The grace and beauty of a dancer is not a state that can be achieved overnight.
Like all things,
it takes time to become disciplined,
well-structured.
Worn toe shoes and pulled muscles are only a small step to the great journey of success.
Hours of practice and working out shorten the trip.
Finally,
when the dancer arrives
at her destination,
complete perfection shines forth.
The 1985-86 Jongleur is an expression of our struggles, gratified in the beauty of the dance.

Distinction ... The seniors set themselves apart as a unique class. 79

Starting Off On A High Note . . .

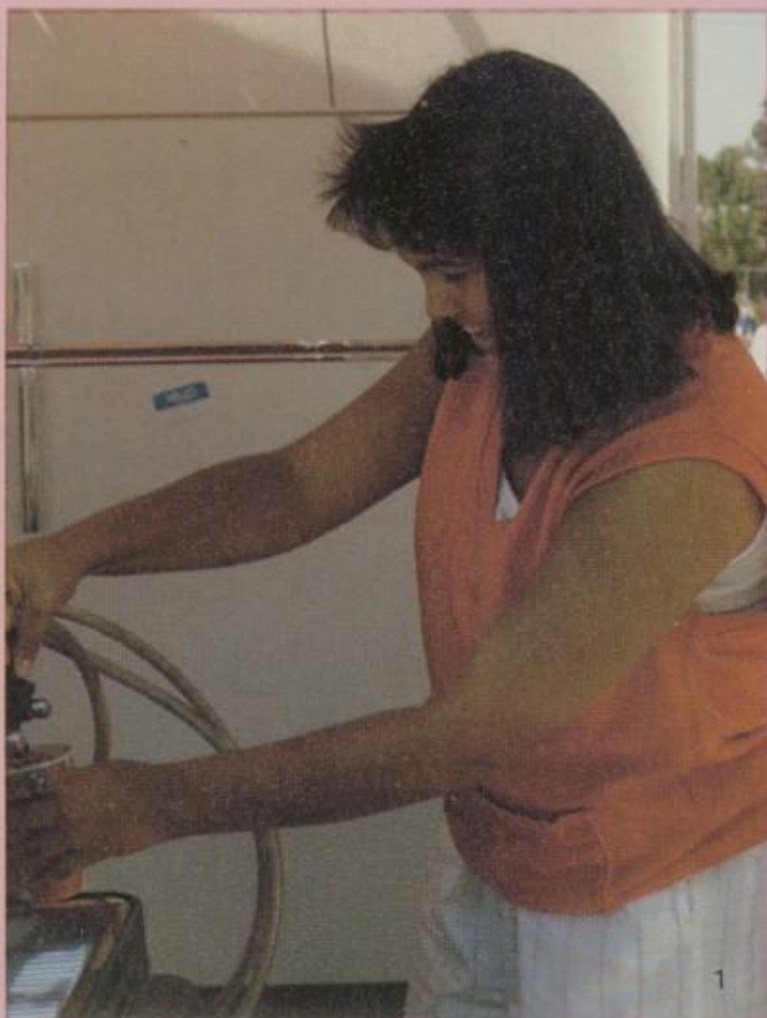

On September 3, the freshmen of St. Joseph High School timidly stepped through the gates of the campus with bewildered looks of fear and apprehension. Fitting into the "Jester Scene" was quite important to each of them, but going about this was a difficult feat to perform. Seeing the freshmen's desperation for gaining acceptance, the seniors creatively organized a week's worth of "bootcamp" activities to initiate these newcomers.

Welcome Week served as a terrific ice-breaker for the class of '89. During one short week, the knowledgeable and experienced seniors taught the freshmen the "tools of the trade." On Tuesday, September 10, the freshmen arrived at St. Joseph outrageously clad in camouflage and covered with twigs, leaves, and all of the plants that they could find. Wednesday was "Candy Rations Day," and the frosh came well-equipped with M & M's, Snickers, and Tootsie Rolls for the eager seniors. "Basic Training Exercises," which included "Senior Says" and a contest for the best frog costume, were carried on at lunch on Thursday. The week of freshmen initiation concluded with a victory lunch provided by the seniors. The "Jester Spirit" shone through in welcoming the freshmen, proving that a bright school year of enthusiasm was ahead.

1. On "Camouflage Day," a group of freshmen undergo humiliating, yet humorous, activities for initiation.
2. Coming back from camp during the summer with a superior trophy, Varsity Cheer members, Michelle Devereux, Mary Ellen Brown, and Cathy Howard, root for our athletes with style.
3. Pam Holt (A.K.A. Kermit II) strives to mimic members of the class of '86 in a game of "Senior Says."
4. The Welcome Assembly gave members of the senior class board a chance to live through their alter egos while displaying the improper attire at SJHS.
5. At the Welcome Mass, Kristen Autry, dedicated A.S.B. president, anticipates a promising, bright school year.
6. The J.V. Cheer squad proudly displays its poise and incomparable ability, qualities which have been the end result of hours of practice and hard work.
7. Freshmen relax from a busy week of fun-filled activities to enjoy a lunch with their senior sisters.

...Set The Pace For The Best Note Of All!

On Friday, September 20, hundreds of people, young and old, gathered together for the start of an exciting, entertaining weekend at the third annual St. Joseph High School Carnival. Bright eyes and smiling faces were seen throughout the bright and colorful field of the school, and it was unquestionably an event enjoyed by all.

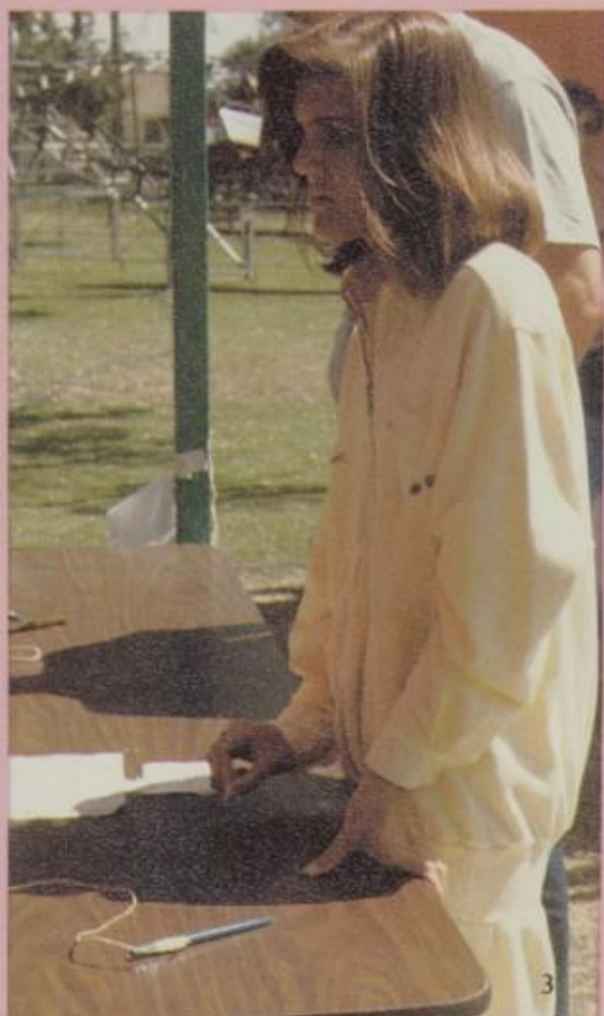

The rhythmic sound of popping ping pong balls, ringing coins, and slamming milk cans displayed the popular interest in the games. People toiled and struggled to skillfully master the art of playing the games; winning a stuffed animal, a bag of groceries, or a little plastic toy soon became an obsession.

People swarmed to the quickly moving lines to ride on the many exciting rides. There was something for everyone, from the calm and peaceful Ferris wheel to the chilling and thrilling Twister.

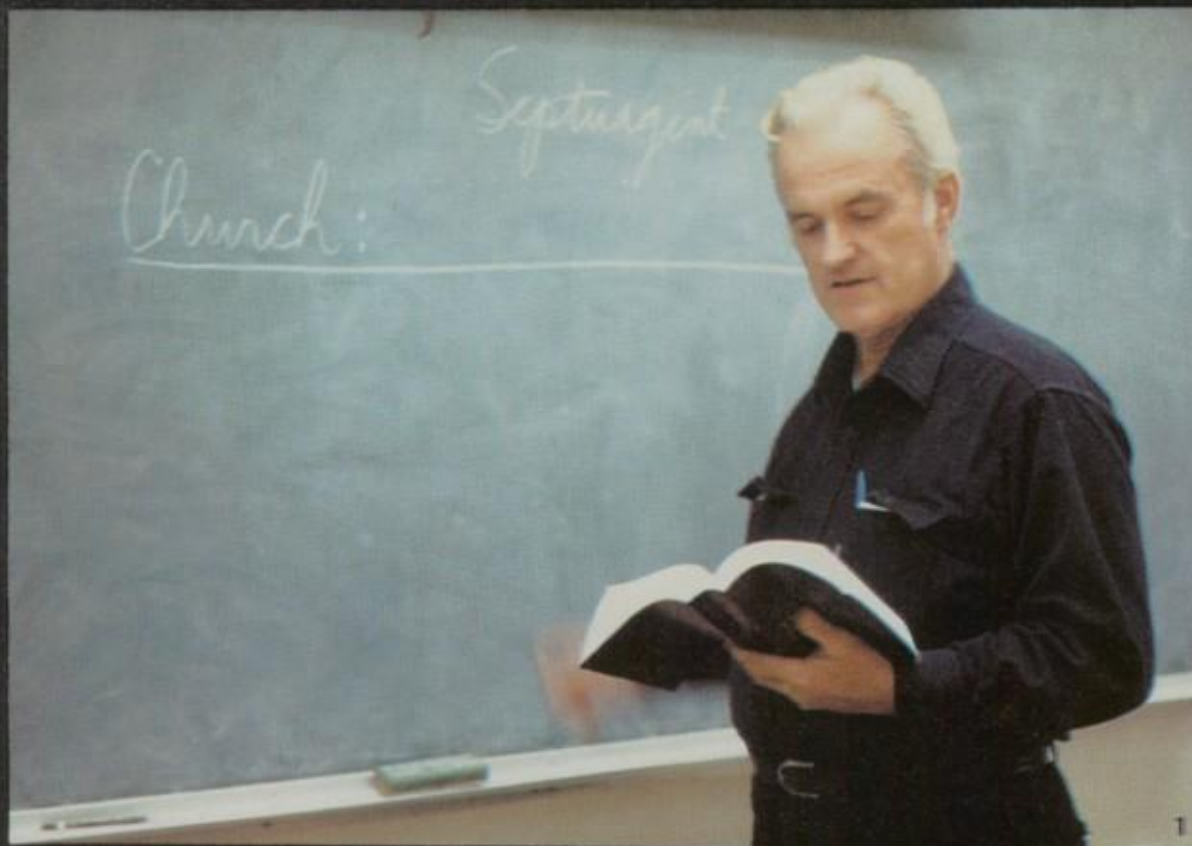

The delicious, diversified types of food represented various nationalities. People were brought on quick excursions to Italy, Mexico, and the Orient by the pizza, burritos, and teriyaki chicken which made their grand debuts at the carnival.

From games, to rides, to food, the carnival proved to be a great success!

1. Gina Lopiccolo cheerfully works in the food stands with complete dedication.
2. Mr. Roger Goodwin, highly admired Athletic Director, and Sr. Janet, well-loved, dedicated principal, take advantage of the opportunity for a pleasant chat.
3. Dana Hershman, a spirited member of the junior class, patiently waits to make her inquiry at the information booth.
4. While whirling around on the "Swinger" two carnival-goers talk of their victorious winning of stuffed animals at the milk can booth.
5. Tina Gandara and Deanna Padilla share a few laughs before boarding their next ride, the "Octopus."
6. MaryAnn Delas Penas, a brave and enthusiastic senior, nervously anticipates her next splash in the dunk tank.

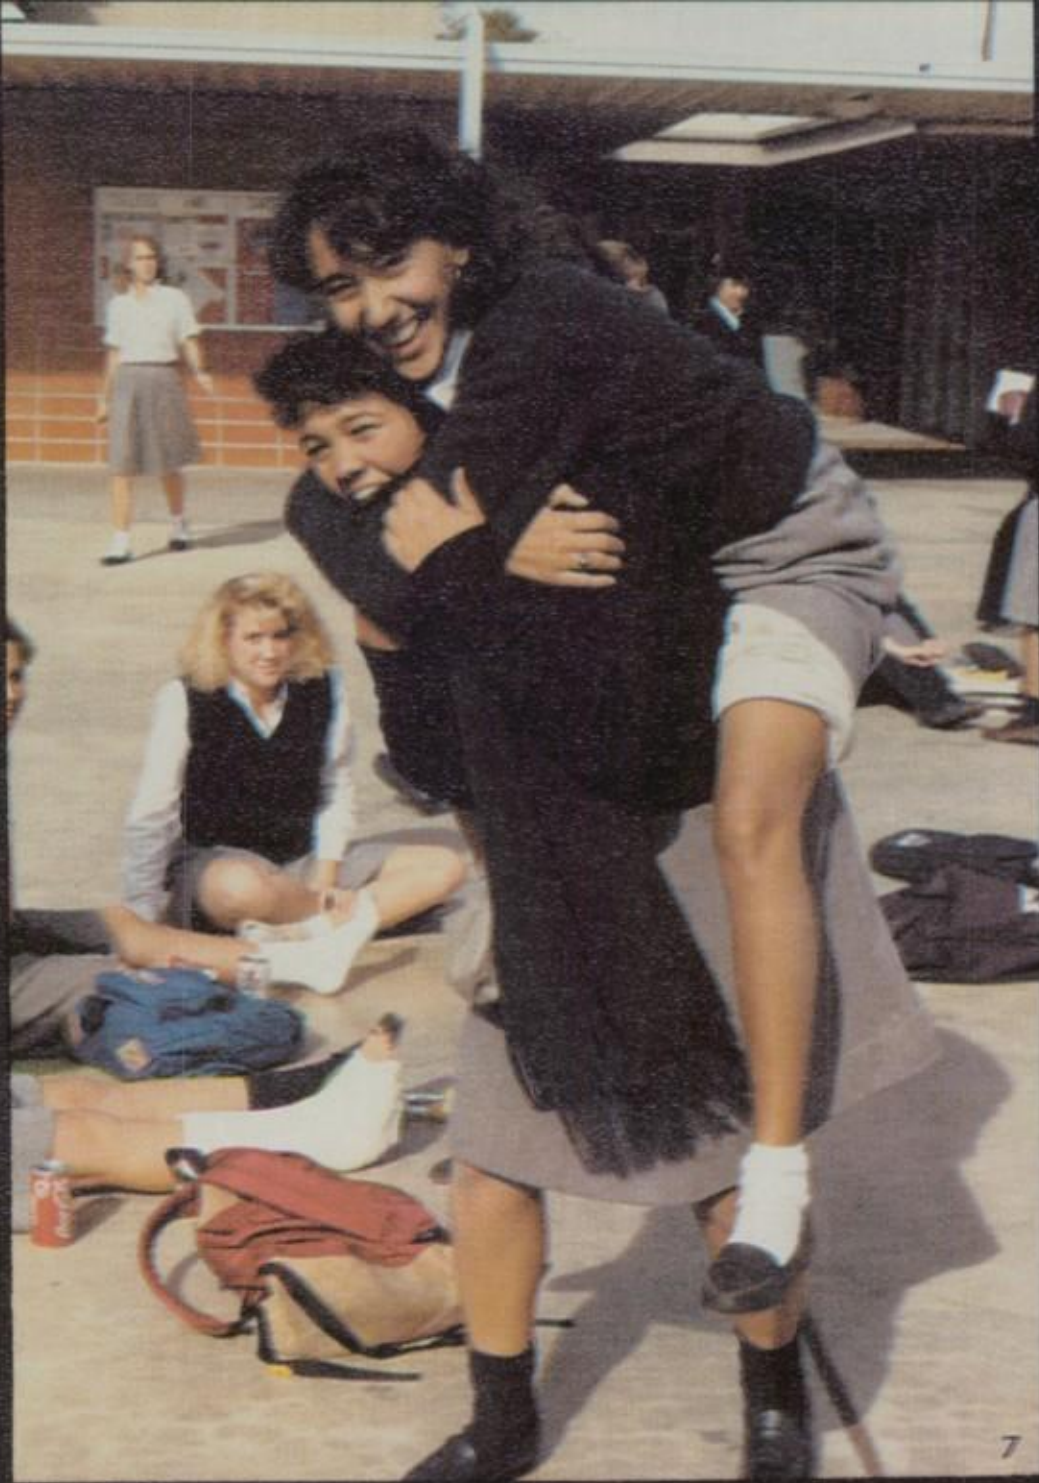

What Does It Mean To Dance?

Probably if you asked this question to someone on campus she would say something like this, "To dance is to move, to groove to express yourself in the ultimate form." We at SJHS do all these things everyday, all the time. In our living and our laughing, in our hopes and our sorrows, we live them all. We see them now.

What does it take to be a dancer? Tough questions. For starters, a sense of humor. That's important. And oh yes, competitiveness. That's everywhere.

But maybe this is the time to say that if you need someone, some help or companionship, kindness or understanding, you don't have to look far. Love is everywhere too.

So here's to the dancer. May she always be creative, be the best, continue to grow. May she always dance to the keys of life.

Queen Monica Ulloa

St. Joseph And Bosco Chalk-up Another Victory!

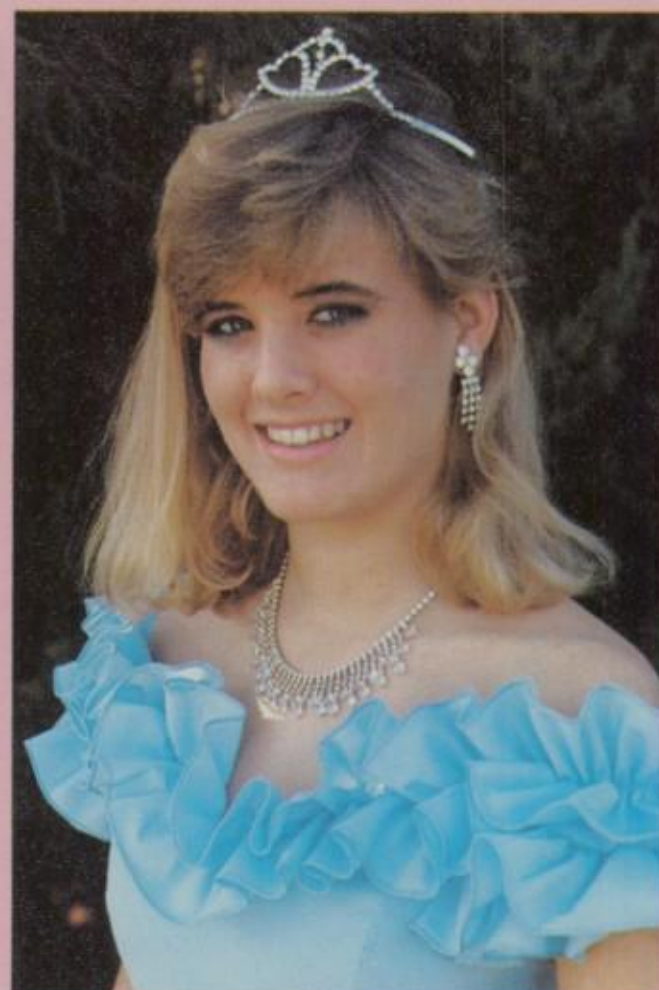

Homecoming Week proved that the spirit and unity between St. Joseph and St. John Bosco is strong. Court nominations and elections and the enthusiastic rallies at each of the schools were only the beginning of the excitement that Homecoming was to bring.

At the game on Friday, November 15, the robust Bosco Braves, cheered on by energetic fans, screaming members of the pep squads, and zealous alumni, defeated St. Francis, 10-7. Halftime was equally exciting and entertaining. With shining smiles, the beautiful members of the Homecoming court, seniors Liz Cramer, Monica Ulloa, and Nicky Santos and juniors Wendy Harabedian and Cary Terra, were chauffeured around the huge field at St. John Bosco High School. The crowd became silent when it was time to announce the queen, and when the name "Monica Ulloa" rang out over the loud speaker there were cheers and applause throughout the stands. But the excitement didn't end there. Immediately after the game, the St. Joseph A.S.B. sponsored a sock hop, and the spirit remained within each of those who attended.

On Saturday, the semi-formal dance was held at the Long Beach Convention Center. The couples looked charming in their extravagant apparel, and it was truly an evening to be remembered!

Senior Princess Nicky Santos

Senior Princess Liz Cramer

Junior Princess Wendy Harabedian

Junior Princess Cary Terra

1. Newly crowned queen, Monica Ulloa, and Bosco A.S.B. president, Matt Fife, greet applauding onlookers.
2. Although make-up may fade, the spirit of the evening remains constant.
3. After dancing up a storm, Valerie Soria and her date take time out for a pleasant chat.
4. Senior, Sandra Perez, is patriotic to the Bosco Royal Blue.
5. Monica Gonzalez and Linda Fuentes enjoy only a few moments of rest inbetween dances with their charming escorts.
6. Seniors Patti Clinkenbeard, Elske Cordero, Cathy Howard, and their dates pause for a moment from the festivities of this romantic evening to ham it up for the photographer.

1. Karen Orewyler beams as Miss Mendoza gives her a scroll with a touching poem written by juniors, Lorna Borja and Katrina Curry.
2. Enthusiastic juniors proudly display their rings after the Mass, "Kaleidoscope of Love and Friendship."
3. Sr. Janet and Miss Ponczocha are as eager to distribute the rings as the students are to receive them.
4. Drill team members, Cindy Franco and Mary Gallagher, are anxious to return to their seats and show their rings off to friends.
5. Michelle Van Haarlem flashes a brilliant smile as she is handed her class ring.
6. From a slide show prepared by class secretary, Valerie Gonzalez, the juniors are reminded of the growth in each of them as individuals and as a class over the past two years.

Rhythm And Harmony Are The Key Elements . . .

Ring around the collar . . . hula hoops . . .
Winchell's donuts.

What do these things have in common? They are all round, shaped in an unending circle of unity, just as are the junior class and the rings which they received on October 25th, at their ring ceremony.

The theme of the event, "Kaleidoscope of Love and Friendship," was quite appropriate, as demonstrated through the various colors of stones in the rings and through the festive array of balloons, streamers, and banners thoughtfully placed about the M. P. B. The one color that shone through, however, was that famous Cookie-Monster blue for which the class of '87 is so well known. Each girl received a blue carnation as a symbol of the spirit and beauty of the class. The bonds between the participants were strengthened by this exciting, yet highly emotional, event. For each member of St. Joseph High School's class of '87, the junior ring ceremony was a very meaningful experience which won't soon be forgotten!

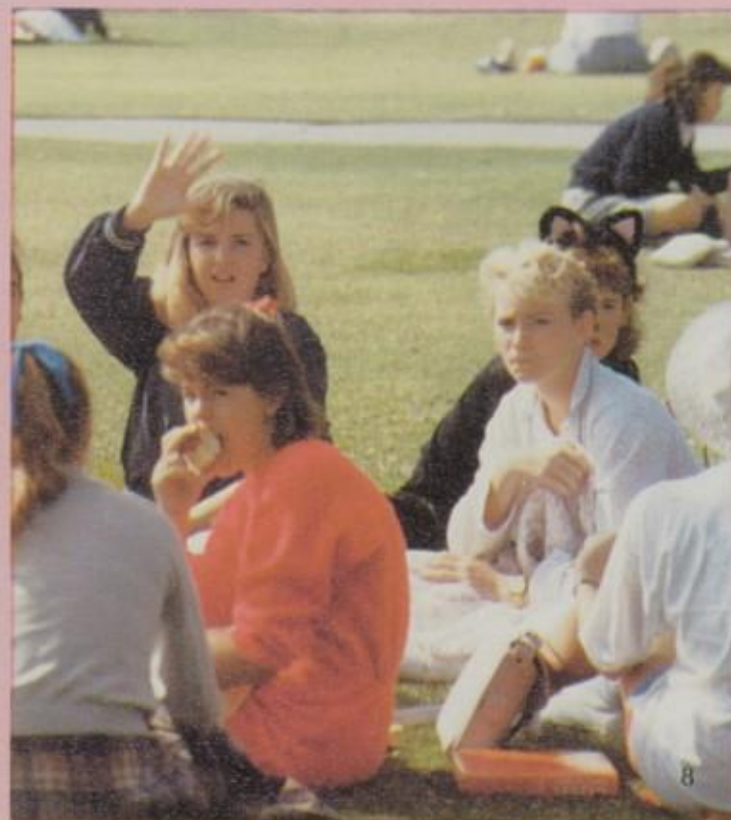

... For Dancing To The Keys Of Life!

What type of dancer are you?

Everyone has a unique dance through which he or she moves along the keys of life. The rhythm and style depend on the individual person. Some nonchalantly waltz through life with ease while others shuffle and tap with intensity. Still others fly through life, poised with the structure and discipline of ballet, and then there are those who energetically jitterbug about with enthusiasm. At St. Joseph, the people do many different dances, but they all harmoniously move together into one very talented variety show.

1. Encouraged by their enthusiastic class president, Suzie Mescavage, and their energetic moderators, Miss Mioli and Miss Mullikin, the sophomores, a united and spirited group, through their many balloons, proudly bear their class color, a bright and cheery red.
2. Susan Mescavage and Vikki Habel, two warmhearted sophomores, share some of the special moments of high school together.
3. Cheer and song squads perform their camp dance, "Take the Lead," with a distinct agility matched by few.
4. Helen Medina, a spunky member of the junior class, never hesitates to flash her warm and friendly smile.
5. Karen Woods, A.S.B. Treasurer, munches on some yummy goodies during the ever-so-short lunch period.
6. Junior, Daniele Lalak, pleads with her friend, Barbara Sutton, to turn the radio on quickly, before she explodes with the pressure from her demanding classes.
7. Seniors argue over the best way to go about the frosh initiation games.
8. Camera-happy freshmen beckon our photographer with friendly waves.

1. "Sister Susan Biller" eats her pepperoni pizza in the serenity and solitude of the field.
2. From the perceptions of curious onlooker, Gina Buracchio, the intriguing characters of Minney Mouse, Raggedy Ann, and the Mad Scientist bring style and diversity to SJHS as they parade about the campus.
3. On Halloween, Angela Torres brought back memories of the protest songs from the 1960's.
4. Gumby and Pokey underwent serious consideration to be declared finalists in the annual Halloween costume contest and parade.
5. Watch out Jaws ... here come Michelle Meyer and Teresa Ascarate!

FACULTY

Sister Janet Duffy- Principal:

Ms. Patricia Ponczocha- Vice Principal; Academic Dean: A student at Pius X High, Ms. Ponczocha is proud of the fact that she was a CSF sealbearer. As for her goal in high school, she wasn't sure, but she knew that she didn't want to be a teacher.

Ms. Terri Mendoza- Assistant Principal; Director of Activities; College/Career Counselor: Sitting in the back of the classroom during Algebra I and Geometry, "Moose" (as her senior section called her) popped bubbles and spat out shells of sunflower seeds to the beat of her favorite song, Diana Ross and the Supremes' "Ain't No Mountain High Enough" (infractions didn't exist). By her senior year, this former SJHS A.S.B. President reformed completely and graduated with many honors.

Sr. Mary Patricia Sullivan- Social Studies; Religion; Dean of Discipline: It's hard to believe that Sister is our Dean of Discipline after hearing about all the pranks she played in high school! Maybe that's why she relates to all of us kids so well. Sister says her most memorable event in high school was her Senior Prom.

Mrs. Helen McGowan- Dean of Counseling: This former Student Body President loved wearing blue jeans almost as much as she loved listening to Elvis Presley's "Blue Suede Shoes". Her high school catastrophe took place when she spilled orange juice all over the table during the senior breakfast at the Bishop's home.

Mrs. Karen Barnes- Home Economics: She was drill team captain in high school and her team won a state championship where they were asked to perform for the Rams and the Lakers. She was senior class vice president, on Yearbook, and in all the school plays.

Miss Kathy Beard- Religion: Involved in CSF, French Club, and Foreign Exchange Club, "Wiskers" (as in "Beard") often sang her favorite tune, The Carpenters' "We've Only Just Begun" while she was doing the homework for her favorite classes, French and Home Economics.

Mrs. Margaret Graves-Bos- Physical Education; Science: One of her biggest accomplishments, besides finding a Prom date, was receiving the athlete of the year award senior year. Her favorite class was taught by Mrs. Duvall, and one thing she would like to have done was to participate as a gymnast (Olga Korbut) in the Olympics.

Mr. Steve Birus- Maintenance Supervisor: Slovak being his favorite subject, "Peewee" (he was short) could be heard whistling his favorite song, "Alice Blue Gown" as he waltzed, fox-trotted, and two-stepped his Saturday nights away.

Mrs. Jean Brazelton- English: With her poodle skirt swishing about her legs, Mrs. Brazelton kept herself busy as Feature Editor of the newspaper, co-editor of the Yearbook, member of the National Thespians Society, and President of the Latin Club. Her most embarrassing moment occurred during the Latin Club banquet when her toga fell off.

Mrs. Barbara Crofut- Attendance Clerk; Receptionist: Her most memorable moment was her participation in the school play, "The West Side Story", in which she was a singer with dyed black hair. Familiar to all was her most embarrassing moment, being kidnapped for her sorority at four in the morning.

Mrs. Cheryl Devenney- Media Specialist: During high school, art was her favorite subject and home economics was the most boring. She was "in" fashion by wearing cut-off jeans, bell bottom pants and by not being color-coordinated.

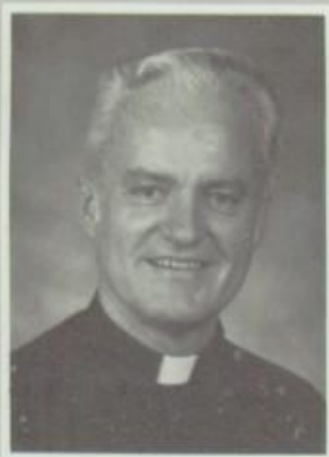

Mrs. Eleanor Duvall- Foreign Language: Mrs. Duvall enjoyed most every class in high school, where her goal was to attend college and travel like her idol Amelia Earhart. But, she encountered one problem on the latter, acrophobia, the fear of heights. One main thing, during the big band era, was to own a pair of saddle oxfords, not new, but scuffed and dirty.

Mr. Daniel Fletcher- Religion; Campus Minister; Drama: His most memorable event in high school was the lead in the musical, "Guys and Dolls". "The Fletch" was the nickname his friends gave him.

Mr. Roger Goodwin- Business; Athletic Director: Focusing on his goal to participate in the Olympics, Mr. Goodwin was off to a good start by receiving the Athlete of the Year award during his junior year and by participating in the athletic club. His favorite song was anything by the Beatles and dress was anything surfer.

Fr. James Henry SVD-English, Religion: With his duck's ass haircut (crewcut on the top with the sides slicked back), "Hank" could be found at the basketball courts, the football field, the swimming pool, or the local drugstore where he worked as a soda jerk.

Mr. Ruben Hernandez- English; Fine Arts: Reub, as he was commonly known to classmates, hated math and excelled in English, for which he won a thousand dollars in an essay contest. The money most likely covered the cost of breakfast every morning; ten cents in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Barbara Houske- Registrar; Administrative Secretary: Like most of us, Mrs. Houske sweated through many a geometry test. She credits passing the class as one of her great accomplishments. Active in Student Council, Glee Club, and other school activities, she enjoyed biology and yawned through Latin.

Sr. Veronica Jones- Librarian: Sister enjoys such actresses such as Doris Day, Judi Garland, and June Allison. Her most memorable event as a kid was flying in a plane for the first time from a small town to big city.

Mrs. Sharon Julien- Accountant: Humming the latest hit by Johnny Mathis, Mrs. Julien could be found strolling across campus to her favorite class, "Basic Office Practice" or diligently practicing her Drill Team routines.

Miss Kathleen Keiser- Social Studies; Counselor: One could always hear M.K. humming the tune of Glenn Yarbrough's "Today" as she strode down the hall of Holy Name High School (all girls, mind you) in her Nehru handmade jacket. Her most memorable event in high school was the senior will to juniors.

Mrs. Mc Cague often uses visual aids to teach difficult Algebra II concepts.

Mrs. Mc Gowan can always be counted on for her supportive counseling.

Mrs. Sarah Klapman- Social Studies: She loves to spend time with her grandchildren and to travel abroad.

Mrs. Armine Kundakjian- Science: It's no wonder Mrs. Kundakjian's most memorable event in high school was dissecting a pig's heart. She is our fantastic physics and chemistry teacher. Her most embarrassing moment in high school was when she imitated her teacher to find out that he was standing right behind her.

Mrs. Mariel Machin- Science: Mrs. Machin's favorite subject, to no surprise, was science. Most everyone of us can relate to her most embarrassing moment, her first kiss, and her most memorable, Grad Night.

Sister Mary Roger Madden, S.P.-English: With strains of Glen Miller's "Moonlight Serenade" lilting in her ears, Sister, clad in a skirt, an untucked men's shirt, a bulky sweater, bobby socks, and saddle oxfords, enthusiastically participated in debate, drama, yearbook, and chorus as well as her favorite classes, English and Latin.

Mrs. Marie Maguire- Mathematics: Mrs. Maguire is an excellent math teacher who has opened up a broad new field to our campus, Computer Literacy.

Mrs. Barbara Mahakian-Religion: Being captain of an award-winning drill team was one of her greatest high school accomplishments. She presently enjoys spending time with her husband and her son.

Mrs. Lucienne Marrajo-Physical Education: A dynamic head cheerleader, Mrs. Marrajo was a Homecoming princess for St. Anthony's. This helpful Student Council member earned the school service award, achieved Honor Roll status, and loved the Rolling Stones "Satisfaction".

Mrs. Carla McCague-Mathematics: An avid spectator of high school basketball and football games, Mrs. McCague also designed and decorated game floats and participated in CSF, Math Club, and FBLA (a business club).

Ms. DeeDee Mendoza-Religion: She would most want to be Bruce Springsteen's wife and found her mother to be her role model. She stayed in style by wearing wrap-around skirts and slip-in Candies.

Mrs. Rosemary Meyer-Accountant: In her saddle oxfords, bobby socks, and poodle skirt, Mrs. Meyer enjoyed mostly her secretarial class which included typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping.

Miss Pink Mioli-Mathematics: Otherwise known as "Pinky" to her classmates in high school, Miss Mioli demonstrated an athletic ability by being a member of a 40-0 basketball team for three years. Miss Mioli was also vice president of her senior class.

Miss Wanda Mullikan-Religion; Social Studies: Miss Mullikan was a very talented athlete in high school. She was selected as "most valuable player" on her volleyball team in her senior year. She was also a member of the basketball, softball, tennis, and track team. No wonder she makes such a great coach!

Mrs. Carolyn Nelson-Social Studies: She found chemistry to be her most difficult subject and was given the nickname of "Lally" by her friends. She considered her mom to be her role model.

Mrs. Deborah O'Brien-English: She would most want to be Tom Selleck's girlfriend and found making a record album to be her most memorable event. She considered Jacqueline Kennedy to be her role model.

Mrs. Lavonne O'Leary-School Secretary: Mrs. O'Leary shares the same opinion as many high school students that graduating is definitely the most memorable moment. Who can disagree with that? Mrs. O'Leary was a member of her high school choir for three years.

Mrs. Jean Parkins-Science: Engulfed in a tent dress accompanied by beads, this one-time flower child enjoyed science and dreaded her frosh English class. While listening to her favorite song "Penny Lane", she had a very honorable goal, to graduate. In answer to who she would most want to be, the reply was The Pointer Sisters — any one of them.

Miss Catherine Pavlish-English: Her most embarrassing moment was when her "role model" teacher caught her with cigarettes. Winning the Minnesota state speech contest was her most memorable event in high school.

Mrs. Monica Peiffer-English; Fine Arts: It's not hard to guess what Mrs. Peiffer's favorite subject was in high school. (Art was, if you can't guess by now.) She demonstrated her leadership ability by her involvement as a student council representative. She further exemplifies her leadership today by her many creative talents adding bright colors to our campus.

Mrs. Linda Petrich-Religion; Health: While in high school, she enjoyed listening to "Hard Day's Night" by the Beatles. She stayed in fashion by wearing boots and mini-skirts.

Mr. James Plouf-Foreign Language: Slim Jim, as he was known, enjoyed the part of a lead in his senior year play. One of his goals, which he fulfilled, was to live in Paris. He participated in such sports as track and swimming, and he was a member of the French and Art clubs.

Mr. John Reyes-Foreign Language: Mr. Reyes attended a high school seminary and enjoyed Latin and Spanish, of course. He was a member of the soccer team and president of the Retreat Club. His most embarrassing moment happened when he fell asleep in history and woke in an English class!

Mrs. Marie Robinet-Religion: Active in CSF, NHS, Drama Club, French Club, volleyball, Student Council, and newspaper, Mrs. Robinet was often seen listening to Climax's "Precious and Few" with her future husband. A graduate with a J. G. P. A., this conscientious student remembers well the traumatic day when she dissected a pregnant frog.

Mrs. Helen Whitwell-Bookstore Manager, Assistant Librarian: Mrs. Whitwell says, "Who can remember anything that long ago about high school?" Mrs. Whitwell enjoys good detective stories such as Nancy Drew.

Mrs. Marilyn Wittkop-Foreign Language, Social Studies: Geraldine Ferraro is the person she would most want to be. Her most memorable event was the dance that a boy asked her to dance. She had too many embarrassing moments to remember.

Mrs. Mary Yaeger-Mathematics: Mrs. Yaeger is one of our favorite math teachers. In high school she was involved in the school newspaper staff, the Honor Society, and she was editor of the yearbook.

1. At the ring ceremony, Mrs. Nelson, a dedicated and spirited teacher, proudly reads off the names of the juniors in her section.
2. Mrs. Klapman finds it helpful when teaching Geography, to tell stories of when she traveled abroad.
3. Mrs. Peiffer's creative abilities make her a competent Fine Arts teacher.

Teachers Help Students Find Their Keys In Life

Each student has her own dance of life. Some waltz elegantly through life. Others pirouette. Still, others shake to the "conga" or twist to more modern rhythms. However, not all of us students have a specific dance in life. Some may experiment with slow-dancing and square-dancing at the same time; whereas, others cannot find a beat at all.

Despite our indecision to choose our rhythm in life, we are always kept in key by people who really care: our teachers. These dedicated instructors share their time in class, before school, at break, at lunch, and even after school. They want us students to learn and to apply what we've learned. These mentors truly desire to share with us their sparkling enthusiasm for an area of knowledge, and they support our cautious venturings to step to another dance.

Someday, after we've found our rhythm, our dance in life, we may trace its first timid steps to a certain teacher here at St. Joseph. And, during that day, at the end of the year or after many years, perhaps we shall tell the teacher how beautiful he or she is and how we cannot thank them enough for helping us to find our keys in life.

1. Everyone appreciated Sr. Mary Pat's love and spirit, especially the senior class.
2. Mrs. Whittkop introduced the Jester Gazzette which included poetry, humor and campus happenings for only $.25 an issue!
3. and 4. New teachers Ms. Vasquez and Mrs. Hand found S.J.H.S. students and faculty to be warm and friendly.

ACADEMICS

Students In Action

The religion classes in St. Joseph are the expression of Christ present in everyday life. Through the teachings of our religion and the understanding of God in St. Joseph families the teachers try to relate our beliefs in everyday life.

The beauty of art on the Jester campus really comes to life when you step into the Fine Arts classroom. The delicate emotion shown through Calligraphy and Drawings of our students display the talent and creativity alive in S.J.H.S.

1. Mrs. Mahakian explains to a student the differences of various religions.
2. Father Henry keeps alive in the presence of Jesus on the St. Joseph campus.
3. Senior Maria Daguiar enjoys revealing the beauty of her own creation.
4. The ever helpful Mrs. Peiffer attends to Maria Menedes's confusion.
5. DeAnn and Cherly listen attentively in Photo to skillfully talented Mr. Hernandez.
6. The Photo Class-top row Lisa H. Mr. Hernandez.
6. The Photo Class-top row Lisa H., Elske C., Karen W., Tracy R., Beth O., Cris C., next row Cherlyn S., Marissa P., Cheryl B., DeAnn P., Julie D., Robin L., Jill G., Cathy S., bottom Nicky S., Michelle H., Liz C., Joann N., Janet A., Suzin F., Mary A., Belinda A.

1. Fr. Henry quotes from his favorite author, O. Henry.
2. As semester finals grow near, students find that the art of note-taking is extremely important.
3. Grace Chen knows that vocabulary studies never end.

S.J.H.S. English Dept. Continues To Excell

Probably the subject that challenges students most and frustrates them throughout is English. The diversity of the department can challenge even the most particular student. Elective course are as varied as Communications Skills, Creative Writing and AP English.

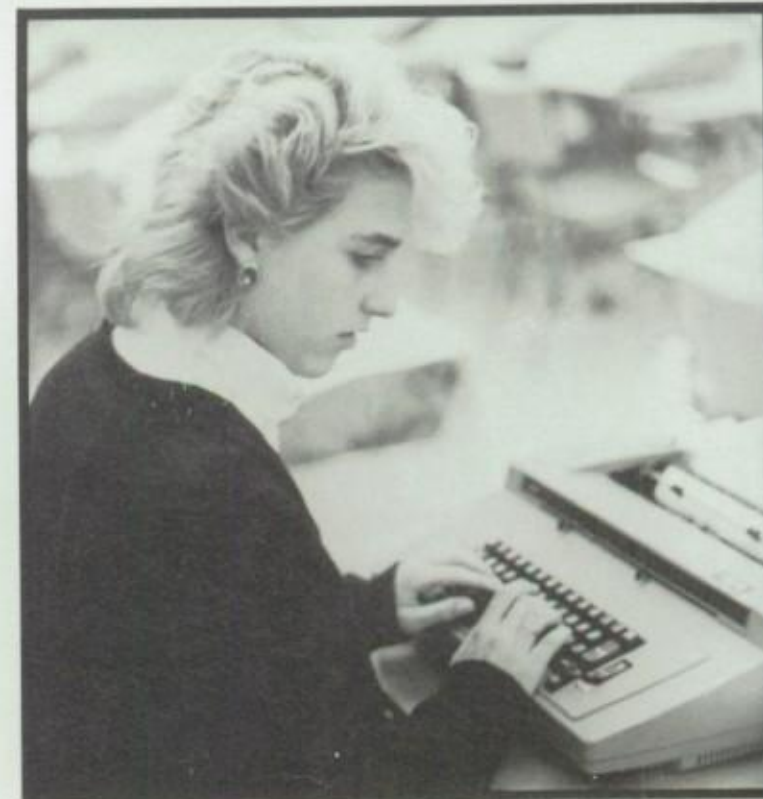

A dedicated staff consisting of Sr. Mary Roger Madden Dept. Chairperson, Mrs. Fuentes, Mrs. Brazelton, Fr. Henry, Mr. Hernandez, Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. Pate, and Mrs. Peiffer help guide and direct towards excellence in English.

Math And Business: Moving On

The math and business departments of St. Joseph have many things to offer. From Consumer Economics to more advanced mathematics such as Calculus: students tackle such difficulties as page long problems or constructing kites that are required for Modern Geometry. Quick to lend a hand and always on the go, the math teachers keep problem solving fun.

In the business classes of S.J.H.S. the typewriters are continually clicking and the students are always concentrating. Preparation for upcoming term papers and college work, the business classes aid to a demanding education.

1. Students now have the opportunity to extend their education by studying computers.
2. Mrs. Carla McCague willingly instructs a student in Math.
3. Amy Gires tentively listens to an important point in Algebra class.
4. Renee DeDen concentrates on the art of typing.

1. Kristen Autry and Catherine Wong practice basic cooking skills.
Looking for something, Catherine?
2. Mrs. Barnes can always be counted on for helpful hints.

Energizing Electives

Nothing is worse than a full scholastic schedule. Demanding academics at Saint Joseph's can get to be too much and we all need a break from intense classes at least one block a day to get out of the rut.

Mrs. Bos or Ms. Chavez could always be counted on for a fun-filled aerobics workout or dance class. These energetic teachers helped Saint Joseph's join the fitness craze that was sweeping the nation.

Physical education was a time to work on athletic skills, and, most importantly, learn how to work with others through teamwork.

Mrs. Barnes' expertise helped many to expand their wardrobe by sharing her skills in sewing. Her Foods and Nutrition class brought many budding young chefs into the spotlight.

Electives help us to discover our creativity and uncover hidden talents.

Science Department

The science department this year is headed up by Mrs. Jean Parkins. This academic field includes the Biology, Chemistry, Physical Science, Earth Science and Physics classes. We owe special attention this year to Mrs. Machin and Mrs. Kundakijian who spent much time with their students preparing various experiments and a science fair.

One of the exciting experiments witnessed by the student body was the launch of the "Jester 86 Rocket" created by the physics class. They made a miniature rocket and it actually made it off the ground with an astonishing parachute landing. There was a lot of trial and error but the result produced was worth the time.

The high light of the science year was a visit by and astronaut, Dr. John Konrad. Dr. John Konrad talked to the student body all about the NASA program. He showed a filmstrip about life inside the Space Shuttle and the preparation and training needed to fly in space. We found out it's not that easy but it sure seem like a lot of fun. The science Year was surely a productive one.

History Makes History

All of the classes at St. Joseph are interesting and have a lot to offer to the students, and the social studies and history classes are no exception. Through the history classes, students are encouraged to explore the past and to see how it effects the present, and possibly the future.

The social studies department is very strong with Miss Keiser as its chairman and with very competent teachers like Mrs. Fuentes, Mrs. Klapman, Miss Mullikin, Mrs. Nelson, Sr. Mary Pat Sullivan, and Mrs. Wittkop.

1. Mrs. Nelson maintains control in her U.S. History classes with a quick wave of an infrantion slip.
2. U.S. Government can always put a smile on a student's face.
3. Miss Keiser intrigues herself almost as much as her students as she studies some of the most recent findings in psychology.

Foreign Languages

1. Students explore new boundaries with a sincere diligence.

Struggling to consciousness each morning at six, the varsity members trudged to school. Summer vacation was never so tiring! Yet, dedication and drive paid off! Returning home with a superior trophy from U.S.A. camp, the team of ten was off on its way with confidence to other competitions.

Captain, senior Catherine Wong, was very proud of her fellow members. Being a spiritleader was not just fun and football games; it was a lot of hard work and responsibility.

Competitions, rallies, and cheering at St. Joseph and St. John Bosco demanded a lot of time. Through all the difficult days though, the squads determination had them coming out on top. Their talent and devotion is sure to keep these girls moving up and on to greater victories.

The Jester's varsity song squad is a team of eight very energetic girls. After school and on weekends, long grueling practices had them very busy. Michele Halley, varsity captain, kept a firm eye out for perfection and attained it! The squad, so enjoyable to watch, is full of movement and talent. Through jazzy rhythm and jump splitz, their execution had one up and dancing. Something they did so well!

The pride and unity shared by each member was present in each performance. An enjoyment to watch, the 1985-86 song team had well attained their goal to key in on perfection.

Practicing difficult movements and choreographing dance steps while twirling a nine foot pole, was no easy accomplishment for the St. John Bosco flag team. But the Jester girls displayed their talent with perfection. Although the girls main performances were in unison with the Bosco Braves band, the team cheered on Joseph events as well. Participating in parades and enjoying the Bosco games, the flag team executed well the unity and spirit present in Jester life.

SPORTS

Varsity Volleyball: A Smashing Review

Coach Roger Goodwin has every reason to be proud of his flourishing masterpiece, the varsity volleyball team. These young women ever so dedicated and equally determined, spent hours practicing, pouring heart and soul into such a rigorous sport. Trying to compose a team like this had not been easy, but how could he have gone wrong when his team consisted of such members as "T" Williams and "Mitch" Krebsbach. Two of the top players in the country.

Viewing such artists as this was heart stopping! Seoul Korea had better start preparing special courts for such athletes as these. Their execution was astounding — every note right on key.

Future Goals Are Always Leaping Higher

J.V. Volleyball

1. Nothing gets past the blocking pro's of J.V.
2. Moving out to victory the J.V. squad is always hustling to get the job done.

Promises of future triumphs always shone bright and vibrant in our junior varsity players eyes. Coach of these assertive girls was Charlie Wade, continually proud of the players who in tough games put forth their very best.

Looking on to future goals, the J.V. players strove for perfection. In hope that for the oncoming year their technique will be perfect, controlled enough to be a skillful varsity member.

5. Dede Mosman executes the fine art of spiking.

Varsity Basketball Jumps Up To A High Note!

The Varsity Baseball team members worked long, hard hours with their dynamic coach, Mrs. Boss, in a struggle for perfection. A great deal of the credit for the success of the team must go to the fact that the girls were very determined and goal-oriented. Their goals for this season included having a winning record after preseason and making it to the playoffs, but most importantly, having fun and staying unified. With the togetherness of the team, it was no wonder that it hit the mark!

The Junior Varsity team members also had a very impressive season. With help from the endeavors of their dedicated coach, Ms. Taylor, they had a very organized and unified team. Practicing for several hours each day and keeping their positive attitude led them to many triumphs.

The key element for the success of any team is having the support of its school, and with the spirited St. Joseph Jesters eager to give their encouragement, both the Varsity and the Junior Varsity basketball teams displayed outstanding ability.

The 1985-86 Varsity Basketball team includes: Anne Viramontes, Ann Stuffer, Kate Hertzog, Angie Shatynski, Julie Da Veiga, Chris Samson, Gina Bailey, Lisa Podesta, De De Mosman, and Katie Brazelton.

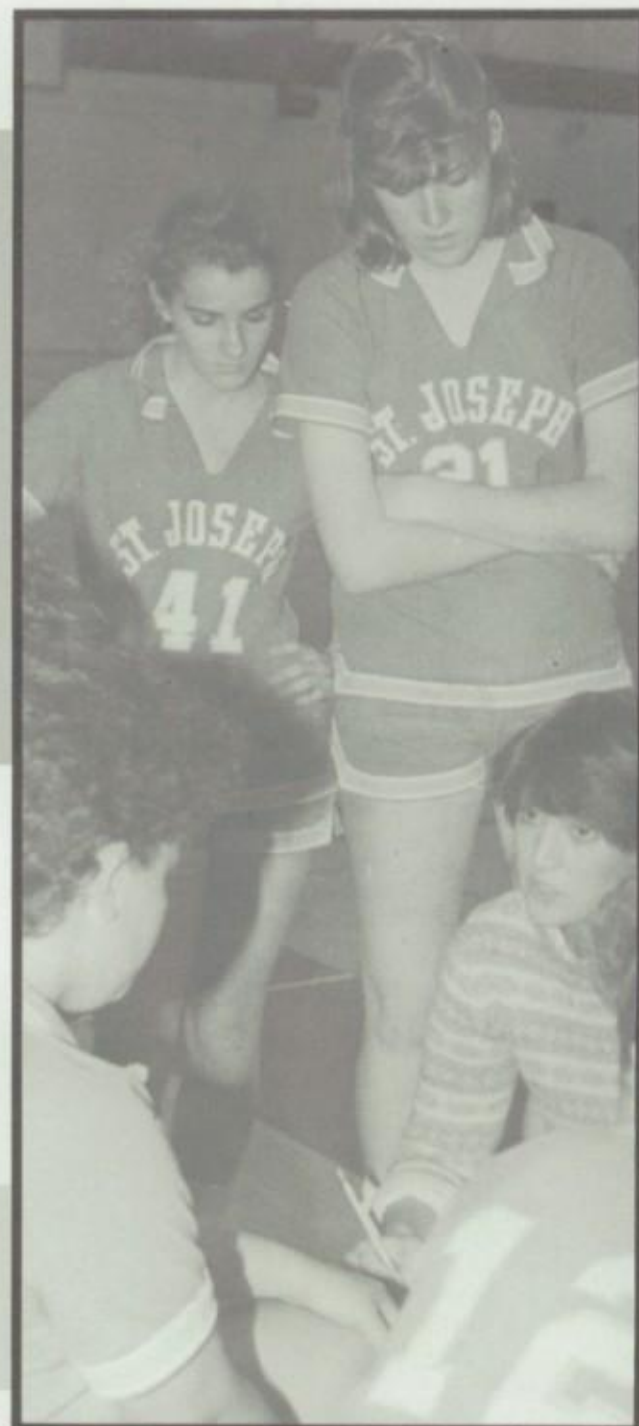

2. Huddling together for advice, the team is eager to hear some suggestions from Coach Boss during the half-time of a big game.
3. Julie Da Veiga energetically leads the team to its victory.
4. The quick and skillful players made an opponent's attempt to take the ball unsuccessful.

J.V. Enjoys A Terrific Season!

The members of the 1985-86 Junior Varsity Basketball team are: Ana Veloz, Katie Hertoz, Pam Jones, Andrea Lopiccolo, Dana Nolan, Lisa Fernandez, Lori Gomez, Olivia Gonzalez, Dana Montoya, Natalie Nason, Natalie Ramirez, Janet Otis, and Jackie Sutton.

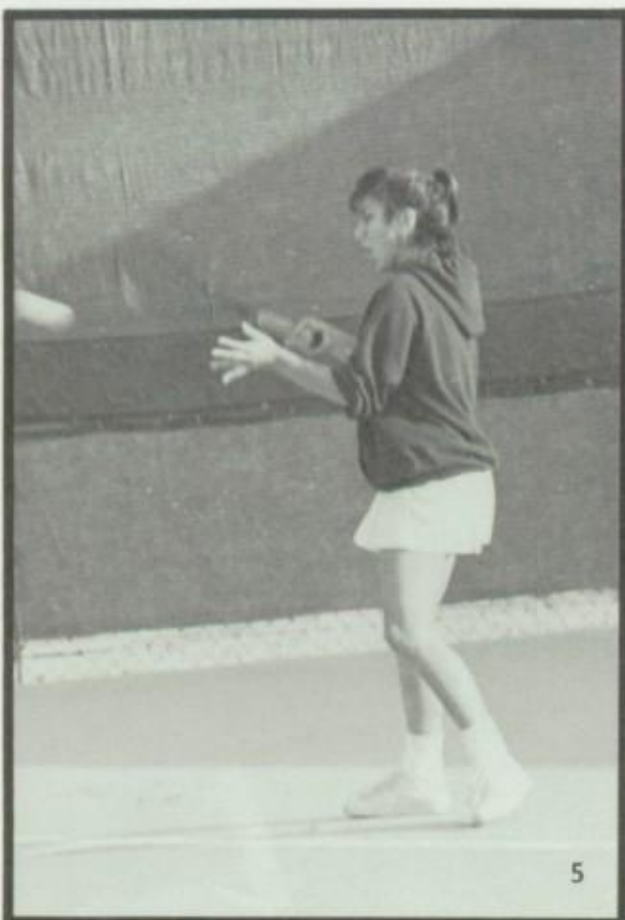

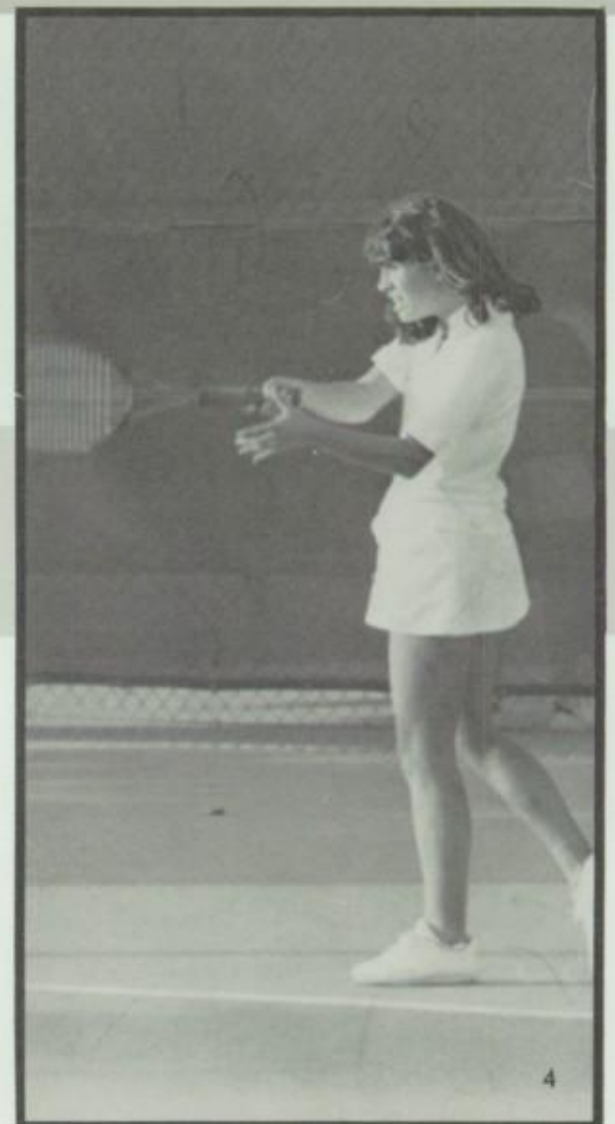

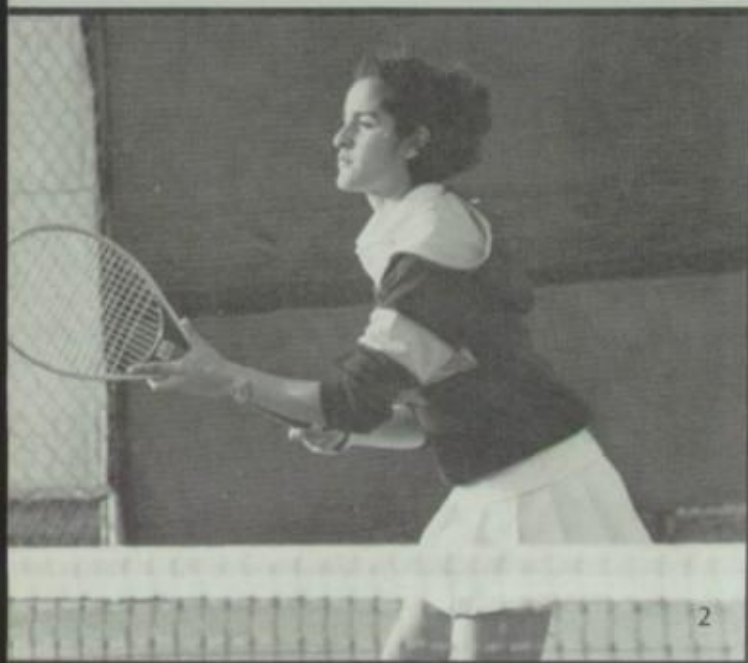

2. Team members figure out their next moves toward triumph.
3. The girls, blocking all opponents, hold up a tough line of defense.
4. Remaining virtually undefeated, this year's team is one of the top in its league.
5. Hours of practice to make the players superior athletes.

For The Love Of The Game Varsity Tennis

A game of nerves, skill and stamina, tennis also doubles as a sport involving highly intense emotion.

Each team member trains through rigid practice schedules held at the prestigious Lakewood Country Club, assisted by coach, Carol Heynen. The country club is to the girls, a home away from home court. All Varsity home games were held at Lakewood, where the girls rounded up many smashing victories. Captains, seniors, Terri Galura and Lisa Podesta accompanied by the rest of their team have good reason to be proud of their triumphs over such grueling teams as Bishop Amat and St. Paul. Dancing off to playoffs, the team is well on their way to victory in Wimbelton.

1. The Varsity squad 1985-86: Terri Galura, Sharon Juellen, Mary Ross, Suzie Higson, Sara Chavez, Coach Carol Heynen, Patrica Barlow, Michele Lima, Lisa Podesta, May Ayroso, Izzy Milon.
2. Freshman Sara Chavez contemplates her next move.
3. Reaching for the perfect smash, Lisa Podesta executes her style.
4. Patrica Barlow concentrates on a precise and strong return.
5. Demonstrating the skill and stamina tennis demands, Izzy Milon anticipates victory.

Cross Country Runs For Success

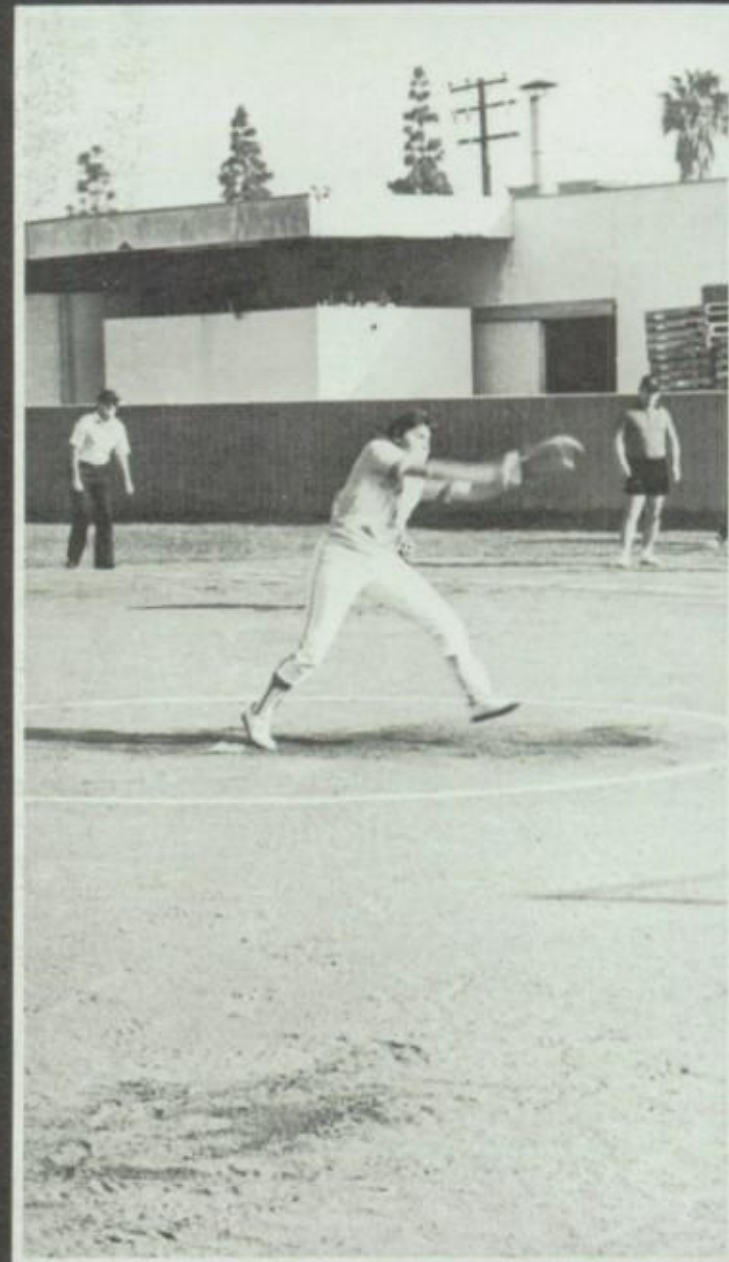

"Endurance, dedication, and a positive attitude" — these, according to star athlete Katie Brazelton, are the key elements for being a successful Cross Country runner. The members of the team, Gina Bailey, Jeanette Casar, Katie Brazelton, Julie Abutal, Lori Toda, Laura White, Denise Bendeck, Connie-Lynne Villani, Andrea McCarthy, Julie Tomasek, Joana Gardener, along with manager Jill Gardener and coach Leone Torromeo, certainly displayed this with their constant determination. Early every morning, from June to October, while most of us were still fast asleep, these girls were at school running to prepare themselves for the season. They also sacrificed several weekends for their meets.

The team participated in many 5K runs, but their most notable meet was near South Coast Plaza where three of our St. Joseph representatives received medals: Katie Brazelton (2nd), Denise Bendeck (4th), and Lori Toda (5th). This victory served as an encouragement to future successes. The great progress made, both as a team and individually, was due largely to the unity of the members and the mutual support each gave to the other.

1. Sr. Janet and Ms. Ponzocha offer their support by attending to a meet to cheer on the dedicated cross country team.
2. Katie Brazelton, GAA public relations officer, gives her all in the successful match against Mater Dei.
3. Denise Bendeck and Jeanette Casar relish in their success at a meet.
4. Joanna Gardener displays true school spirit in her eagerness to excel.

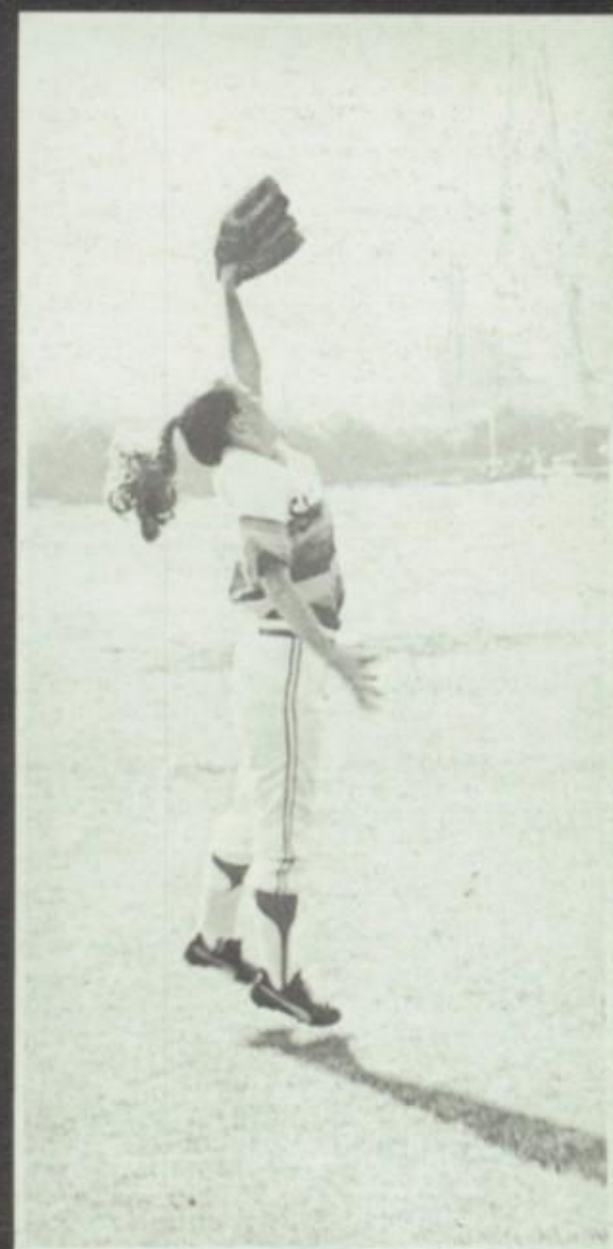

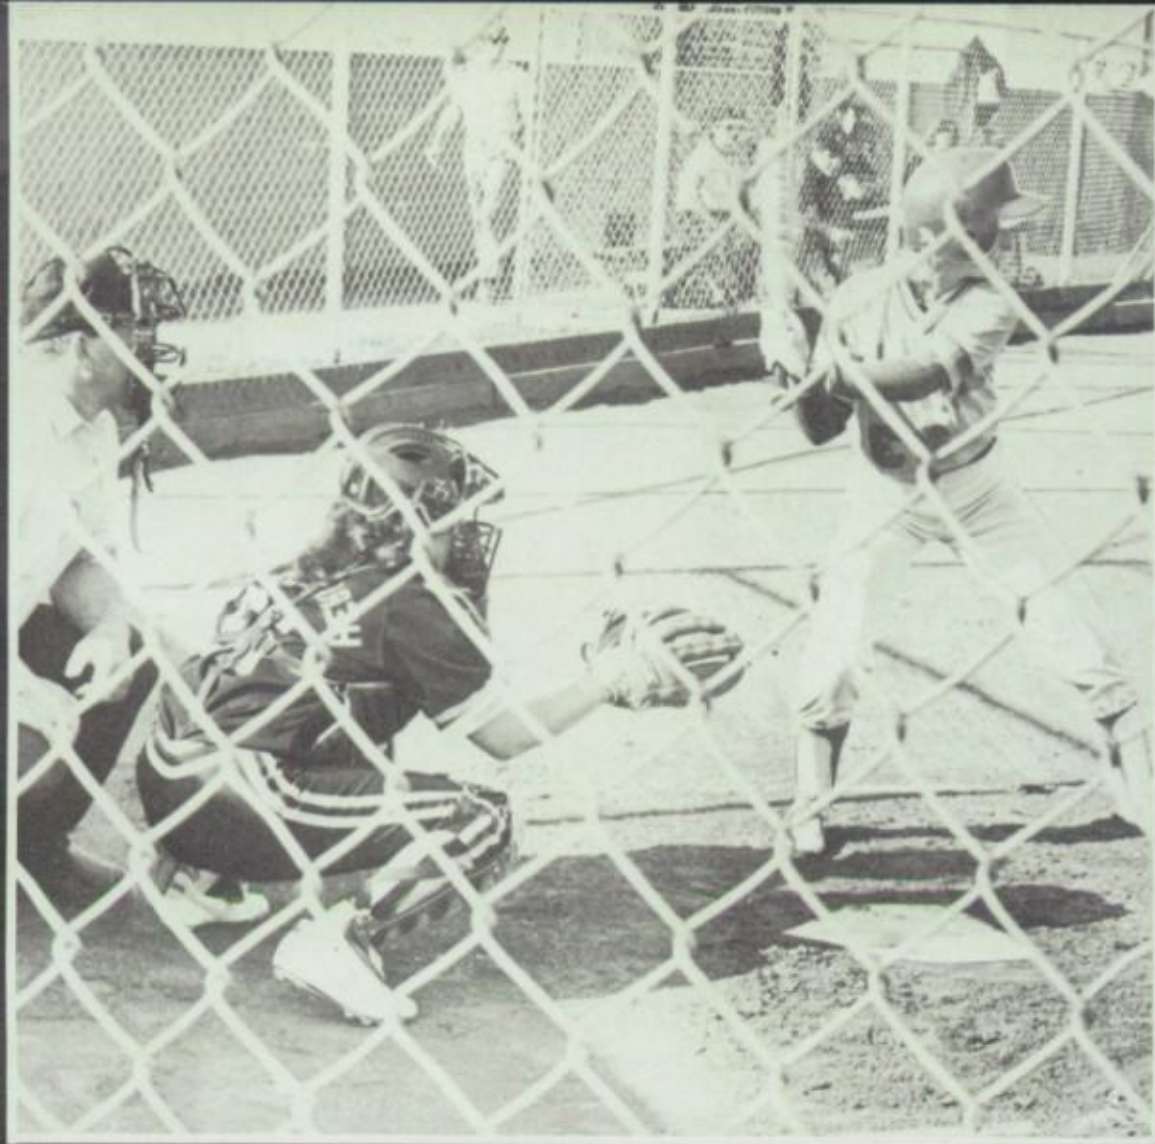

Keep Your Eye On The Ball

One of the most popular sports at St. Joseph's is our outstanding J.V. and Varsity Softball. The Varsity team takes great pride in their freshman pitcher, Lisa Fernandes. She is one of top five pitchers in California which will be an intimidating factor for opposing teams. There are only three seniors on the team this year with the rest being made up of juniors and sophomores. The coach is Debbi Taylor and with her coaching and our superb team, many people predict us league champs for the '86 season.

1. Mr. Goodwin and Ms. Mullikin go over ground rules with the official before the big game.
2. Lisa Fernandes demonstrates why she is the leagues best pitcher.
3. J.V. infield always warm-up properly before all games.
4. Amy Beldbach concentrates on getting a hit which will give the winning run.
5. Catcher Erin Pranglely adjusts to Lisa's movement of the ball.
6. Jester outfielders never let anything get by them.

The Soccer Team Pounces Past Pressure!

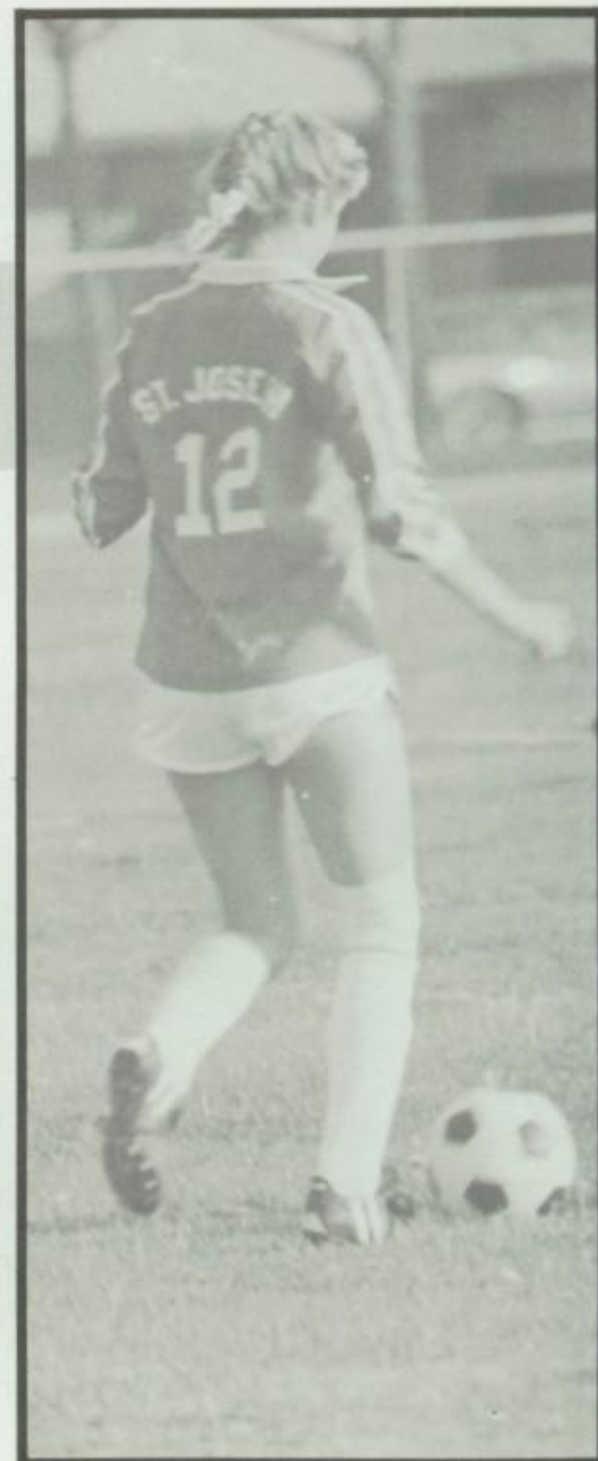

December 5, 1985, as stated by GAA president Tee Williams, was truly an event to be marked down in the history of St. Joseph High School. It was on this date that the school's first Soccer team played its premier home game. The game ended in a tie between SJHS and Garden Grove. This displayed the team's outstanding ability; the St. Joseph girls, starting off with a brand new team, were able to play well against opponents who were playing on a team that had been fully established and running well for some time. With the dedicated players practicing everyday to achieve their goals, the soccer team was destined to be a success at SJHS for many years to come. As stated by the enthusiastic coach, David Nejd, the team is "progressing!"

The 1985-86 St. Joseph High School soccer team includes: Coach David Nejd, Emily Perez, Chris Ward, Shannon Lawrence, Bridget Lawrence, Shelly Van Emon, Michelle Carlos, Kathy Harkey, Joan Massa, Mary Finer, Michelle Barreto, Christy Romano, Elvira Sepulveda, Kim Arboit, Erin Prangle, Yvette Gonzales, Mary Kate Engler, Crissy Byham, and Meighan Berberich.

2. Michelle Carlos struggles to keep the ball away from the opposing team while trying to make a goal.
3. Chris Ward and Kim Abroit add their great skill and expertise to the game.
4. Members get together to make plans for their next plays in the big game.
5. Players spent hours of practice in a struggle for perfection.

What am I going to wear? Though we aren't faced with this problem every day, we have to think about it on the weekends. It may surprise some people that plaid and herringbone aren't on the fashion parade; but if you take a look around our campus, you'll see the trendiest fashions of the year. Stirrup pants and Reeboks were popular casual wear for football games. For a dressier look, floral satin and pumps were seen at dances. Many "in" items from last year carried into this year, such as big sweaters and baggy pants. Whether you wear a paisley shirt with a brooch or jeans and a sweatshirt, most likely you'll be fashionable.

This school year has ushered in a new Computer Lab to St. Joseph, and to the world, a comet which only comes every seventy-six years. From abroad, America welcomed the Prince and Princess of Wales to dance into our hearts, and the Soviet leader, Gorbachev, in hopes of peace. We watched America reach out to help in the Mexican earthquake, in the concerts to benefit the hungry at home and abroad, and in a search in the cure for AIDS. We felt fright at the drastic rise in terrorism, and the Space Shuttle tragedy, in which we lost seven Americans, grieved the nation.

Baseball season brought Pete Rose and his record-breaking hit, while during football season, William "Refrigerator" Perry, along with the Bears, did the "Super Bowl Shuffle." Our favorite movies were "St. Elmo's Fire" and "Back to the Future." The fast-paced "Miami Vice" scored in the TV ratings, and Bruce Springsteen, "The Boss," gave us something to sing.

1. The Live-Aid Concerts in the United States and England raised funds for the poor in North Africa. 2. On January 28, 1986, The Space Shuttle Challenger exploded, killing six astronauts and a teacher, Christa McAuliffe. 3. Halley's Comet returned in 1986, and the world gazed towards the heavens. 4. Pete Rose broke the record of the most career base-hits, with 4193 base-hits. 5. The Bears' William "Refrigerator" Perry helped bring Chicago a Super Bowl Victory. 6. The world attention riveted on the terrorist activities throughout the year. 7. Michael J. Fox entered the film industry with the hit movie "Back to the Future." 8. Don Johnson and Philip Michael Thomas star in the popular "Miami Vice." 9. Princess Diana and Prince Charles visited The States this year. 10. Rock Hudson's death from AIDS, brought media coverage, which lead to Congressional Funding for research into AIDS. 11. A summit was held at Geneva between Reagan and Gorbachev as an effort for world peace. 12. Bruce Springsteen wows a crowd in Los Angeles. 13. One of the largest cities in the world experienced poverty and despair in the Mexico City earthquakes. 14. "St. Elmo's Fire" introduced seven young stars to the entertainment world.

She Works Hard For Her Money!

Can you remember how the second hand of the clock would finally reach 2:30 P.M. — the sign that Block 6 was officially over? Students would pour out of the school, eager to go to the mall, a friend's house, or home to start on some homework. Then there was me, the moonlighter. I had to rush home, throw on my work uniform, and then rush right over to work so as not to be late. For me, the day had just begun; I would be at work until around 9:00 (if I was lucky enough to be let off early!). Once I got home, I would have to start on my homework immediately, staying up past midnight with my eyes glazed over as I struggled to finish my last trigonometry problem.

Having a job wasn't all that bad. It was fun getting to meet new people and learn new things (like how to simmer a Big Mac to a heat that made it "just right"). But, with the good, one must always be prepared to take a little of the bad too. I had to put up with unsympathetic managers, irritable customers, and ill-tempered fellow employees.

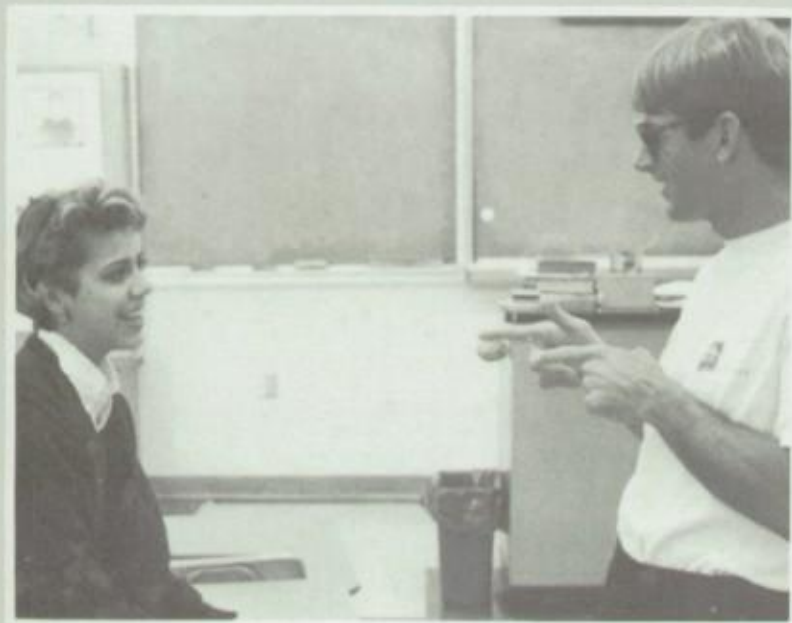

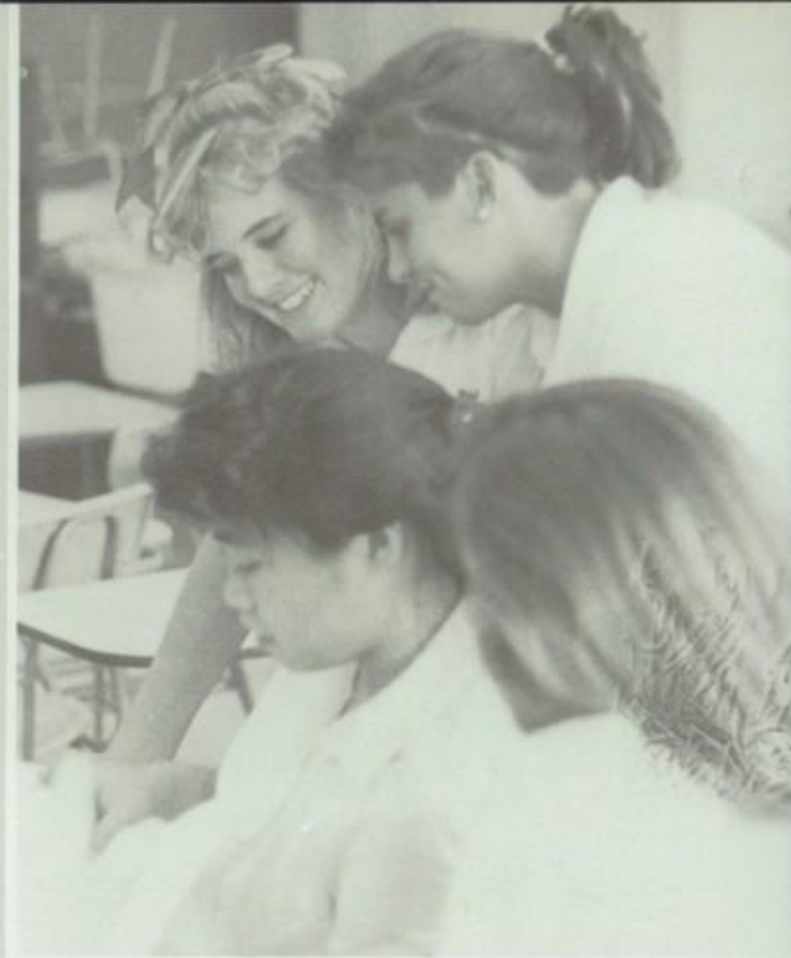

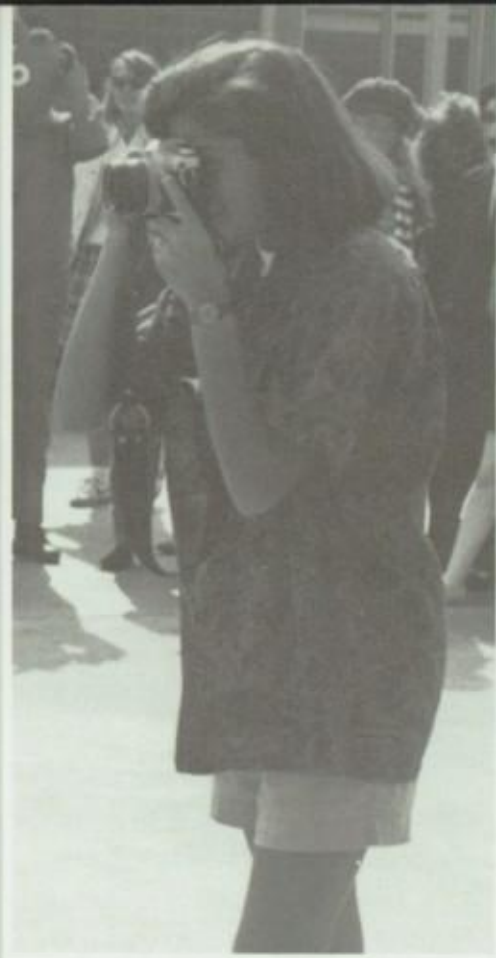

Every other Friday, when the paychecks came, I completely forgot my complaints about my job. It was true; the extra money came in handy and made all of my toils and struggles worthwhile!

1. Tanis Rhines works diligently at the La Petite Boulangerie. 2. Working in the shoe department at Nordstrom, Angie Sheehan helps people to dance to the keys of life with style. 3. Efficient hostesses, Gina Hansen and Diana Salazar, can handle the rush hours at Coco's with perfect ease. 4. Wouldn't you like to be a customer at Bubba's with friendly hostess Andrea Tonsich to greet you and all these yum-mies goodies to have for Sunday brunch?

There is probably no greater pressure one can suffer than a deadline. This was especially true for the 1986 yearbook staff. This year the staff was challenged to produce a yearbook in one semester as opposed to two semesters in the past. This meant meetings after school, break, lunch and on weekends. With hard work, dedication and a little luck the 1986 Jongleur Staff met the deadlines and we hope you like our product.

ASB Board

Responsible, hard-working, and outgoing describes this dedicated bunch of workers, our ASB Board. We are very proud to have these five young women represent our school. This fabulous board includes President Kristen Autry, Vice-President Kim Alva, Secretary Hanya Totah, Treasurer Karen Woods, and Public Relations Deena Totah.

These girls are always seen around the campus attending to their respective detailed jobs. They put 100% of themselves into their work and that's what makes these girls special. Miss Terri Mendoza, the conscientious leader of these women, is always behind these girls ready to lend a hand.

Kim Alva kicks back and listens attentively to the suggestions made by fellow class members.

Miss Mendoza seems never to have time to herself as she is always busy with students and her ASB gang!

G.A.A. Board Members: Tee Williams, Ann Viramontes, Julie Da Veiga, Katie Brazelton, Andrea Lopicollo, Lisa Podesta, Angie Shatinsky and Chris Samson.

These girls play a major role in all sports activities at school. Their job is to promote school spirit by informing the student body of the upcoming school games, and also to lead the sports rallies by introducing the teams and coaches.

Misfits of Science members: Kathy Gonzalez, Honya Totah, Kelly Lorge, Tina Osorio, Linda Fuentes, Michelle Bautista, Connie, Erica Griego and Moderator Mrs. Kundakjian.

They especially find time to sponsor bake sales and hamburger sales. (Food is an essential part of life at St. Joseph's) These girls enjoy their job and we appreciate them very much. Thanks girls, you've done an excellent job!

Another lively organization is the Misfits of Science. This group has ambitions to experiment and promote interest in science. Other students often find members involved in rocket experiments, chemistry studies and our science fair. Curiosity is alive and well in the Misfits.

The California Scholarship Federation (CSF) Club is an group in our school including the highly motivated students maintaining a strong GPA. As a CSF member it is her duty to promote service to the school. These girls spend hours and hours after school tutoring students in various subjects.

Cycle/Gazette/Shutterbug Clubs

The Cycle Club is busy all year round pedalling their way through different parts of town. This year they plan to take a week-end trip to the mountains.

The Shutterbug Club is a brand new club this year. It includes those girls interested in the art of photography.

The Gazette Club is made up of a bunch of creative girls who like to write. This year they published our first St. Joseph newspaper "The Gazette." This was a difficult task but the time and effort was worth it by the outstanding results.

Pictured from top to bottom are members of the Cycle Club with moderator Fr. Henry, the Shutterbug Club with moderator Mr. Hernandez, and the Gazette Club with moderator Mrs. Whitkopp.

JR. State, F.B.I.

St. Joseph High School's chapter of the Junior Statesmen of America (J.S.A.) has become an extremely popular organization on campus. The club's main interest is public speaking, and the members eagerly take the opportunity to polished their oratory skills. This year, the group sponsored a debate and a speak-a-thon, and in addition, they went to several regional conventions and competed in debate with members from other schools.

The F.B.I. stands for Friends Being Involved, and it is also a very powerful organization. This group is a service-oriented club that participates in many philanthropic activities. The F.B.I. sponsored food and blood drives, and its members often visit the elderly, the lonely, and the poor.

J.S.A. and F.B.I. both try to get involved, and in doing so, they show true school spirit with their love, hope and zeal!

1. 1986 F.B.I. Club promoted friendship, generosity and the Christian spirit. Ms. Keiser moderator.
2. 1986 Jr. Debate Club consisted of active members who believed in the importance of public speaking and freedom of speech. Mrs. Whittcop moderator.
3. Shelly Cornelius has represented S.J.H.S. at the Lions Club speech contest for two years in a row.
4. Daisy knows that sacrifice for others is a great reward.

ACTIVITIES

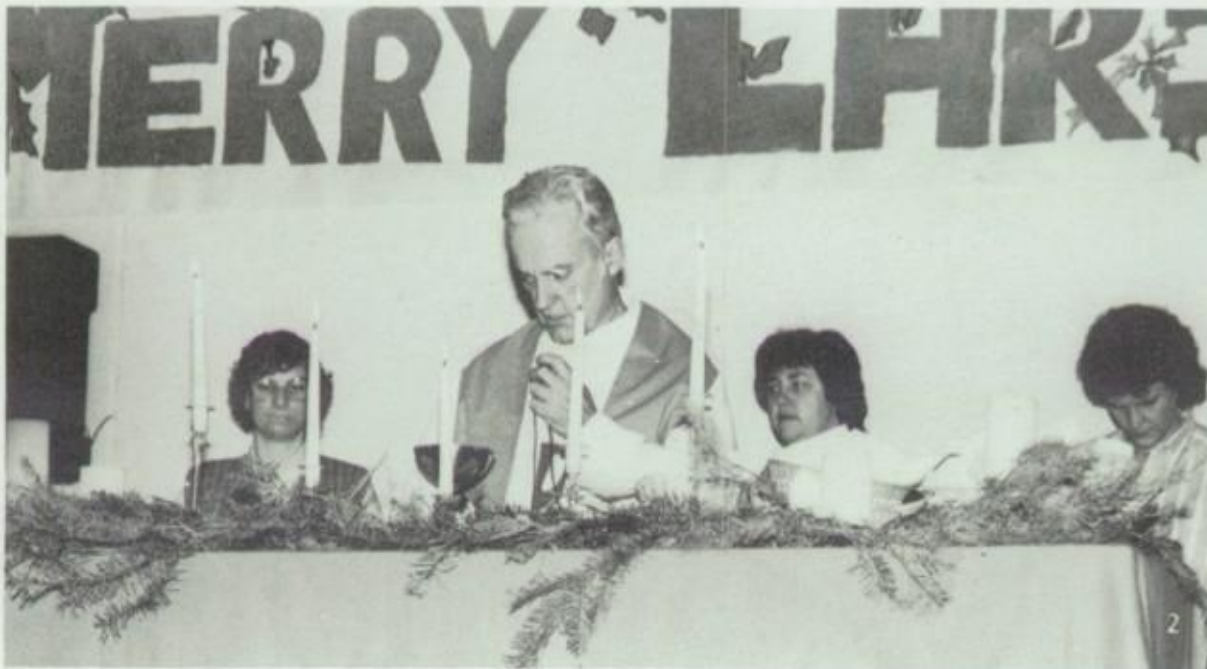

Uniting As Friends In Christ

Once a month the entire ASB gathered together for a special mass planned by Campus Ministry. Liturgies were prepared with songs and themes in which we could further express ourselves. Thus enabling us to deepen friendships and keep Christ alive on our campus.

Symbols of love and unity with songs and class colors related each class to the theme chosen. Our celebrant and friend, Fr. Henry, helped parallel the them to our everyday lives and relationships with others.

Masses inspired us to settle differences and accept each other's love.

1. Members of our choir add a new dimension of meaning to our masses.
2. Fr. Henry's special Christmas mass sent us all on our vacation eagerly awaiting the arrival of Christ.
3. Mr. Fletcher, along with Campus Ministry, dedicated much of their time to making the masses special for all who attended.
4. Kristen Autry never ceases to amaze us with her unending talents and, of course, that sparkling smile.

Mother-Daughter Luncheon

Between school and various extra-curricular activities, students rarely have the opportunity to have lunch with their mothers during the school year. The Mother-Daughter Lunch provided a special afternoon to spend together. Many mothers and daughters gathered together in the MPB with a sense of togetherness in the Christmas spirit.

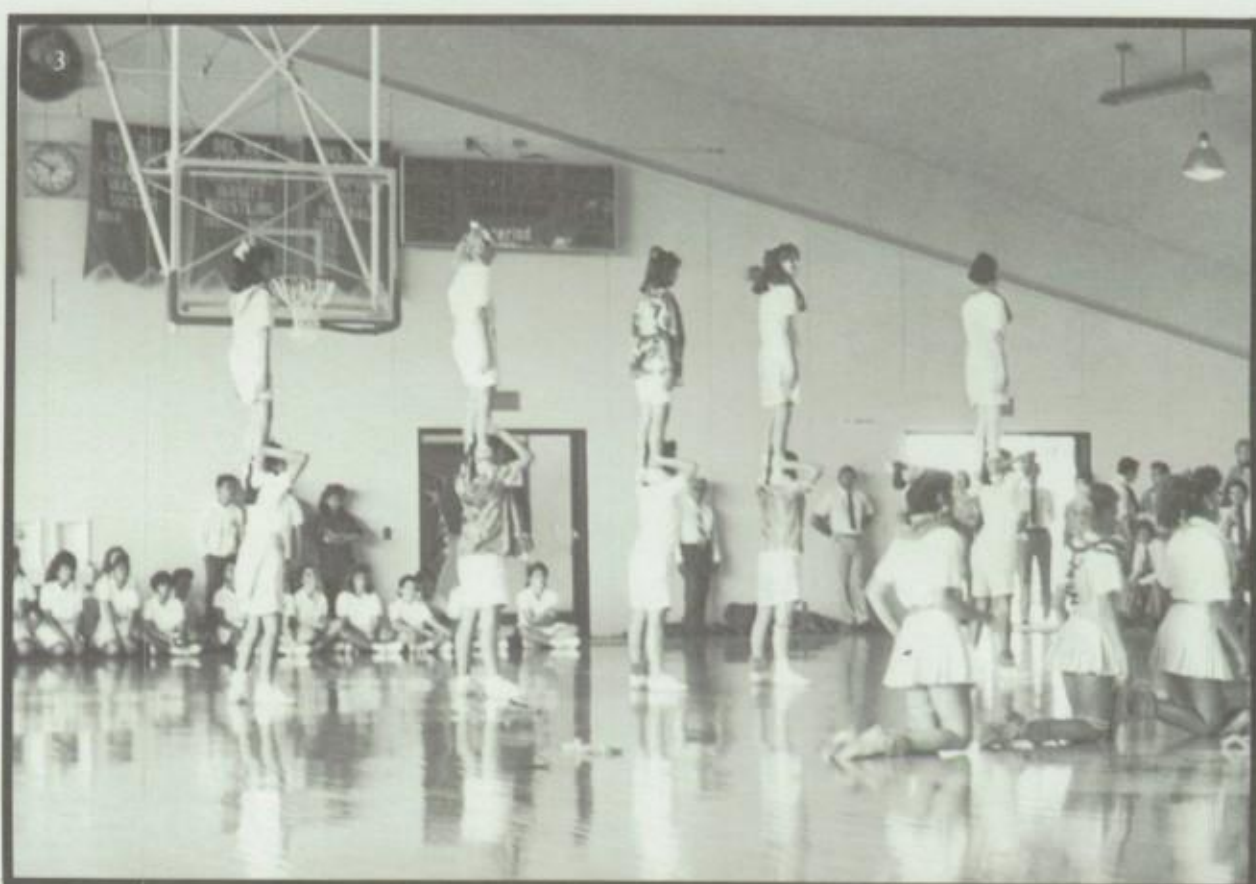

1. Mary Nelson and her mother enjoy spending the afternoon together.
2. Salads and desserts made by the student body were enjoyed by all.
3. Anne Aspiras and her mother find the afternoon to be a very enjoyable event.
4. The anticipation of waiting in line for all the delicious dishes that were served, proved almost to be unbearable.

King For Just One Day

A reverse of the traditional beauties, the St. John Bosco boys submitted themselves to torment: speeches on the Jester campus. First thing they should have been aware of is not to bother a Joseph girl when she's eating lunch!! Second, we aren't accustomed to men on our campus so the sight often invites chaos.

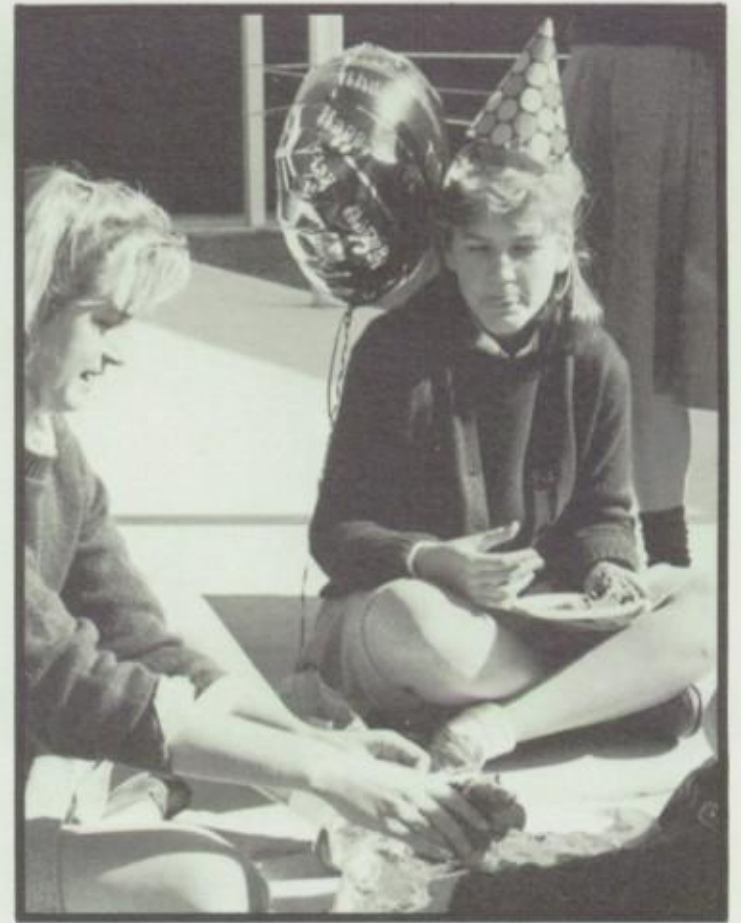

Yet, when all the fun and joking subsided, the girls picked out a real king of a guy, senior Matt Wiggins!!

His prestigious court consisted of seniors Ronny Medina, Dennis Caspary, Steven Brazelton, and Bob Orr; some dedicated Bosconians. These candidates were presented to a large crowd of admirers at half time of the S.J.B. basketball game. Adorned in Burger King crowns and clutching a bouquet of carrots, Matt and court went on to enjoy the festivities of the Boat Float.

1. The St. John Bosco homecoming court and escorts l to r; Matt Wiggins and Kim Alva, Bob Orr and Karen Woods, Ronny Medina and Deena Totah, Denise Caspary and Kristen Autry, and Steven Brazelton and Hanya Totah.
2. Overwhelmed with joy, Homecoming King Matt Wiggins graciously accepts the title.
3. Wiping Out the Bosco rally with a great performance, the Jester Varsity Cheer and Song teams perform at the rally.
4. Senior Dennis Caspary delivers a speech to a crowd of Joseph girls. What a smile!!

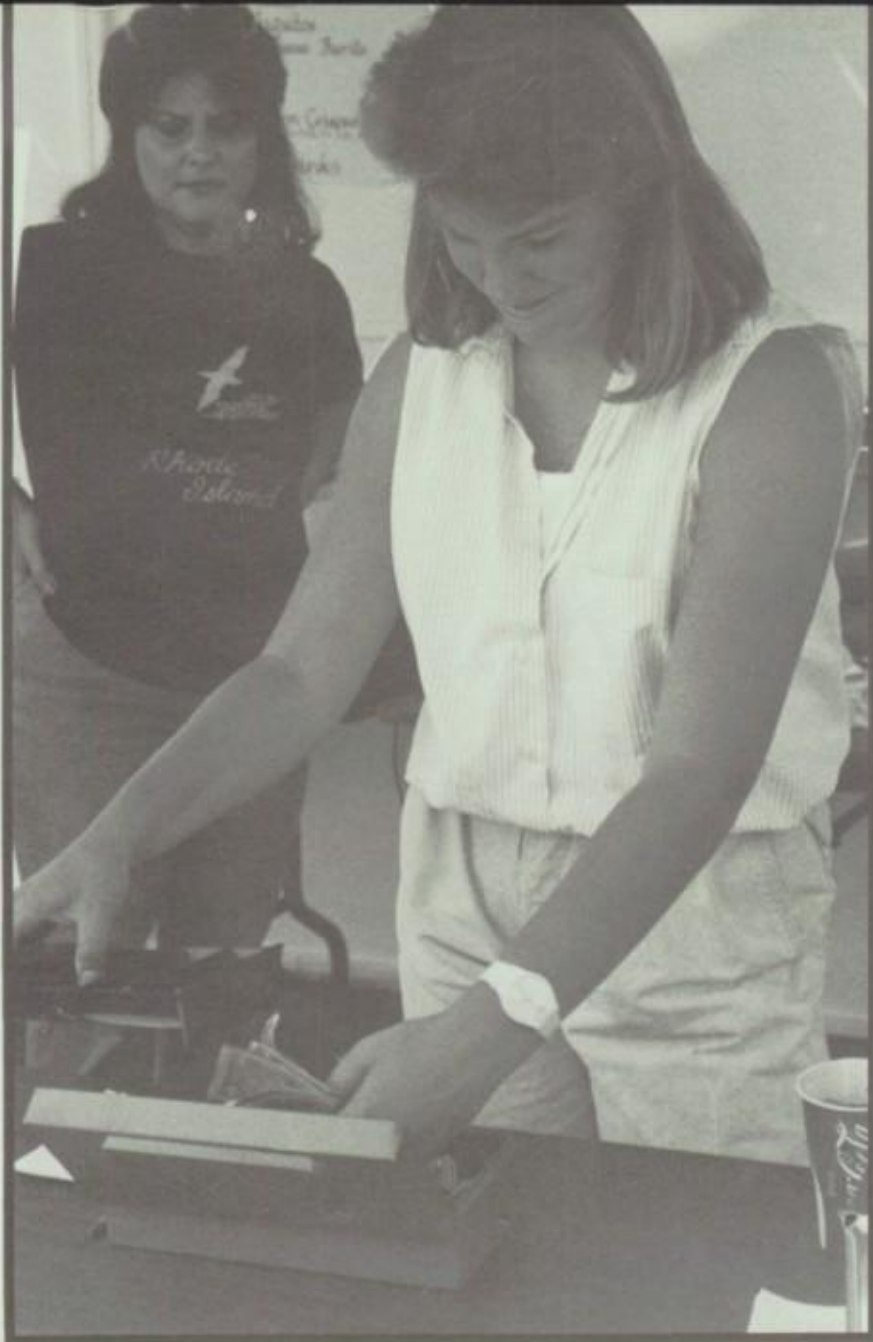

Buttons, posters, and discussion were the prelude to the Debate on Capital Punishment this year. Seeing the opposing sides of the controversial, political, and moral issue come head-to-head forced the students to ponder over the issue. The debate teams were made up of seniors from Sr. Mary Pat and Mrs. Nelson's United States Government classes. Some students were in charge of gathering data to back up their point of view, while others participated in the Debate. All students were invited to question the debate teams. The Debate raised consciousness about important questions in our lives and the world around us.

1. Members of the Debate team prepare themselves while Sr. Mary Pat introduces the issue.
2. Chris Samson, DeAnn Pagencopp, and Marisa Passinissi review their information before answering a question.
3. The long line of students waiting to question the Debate teams shows the interest that the Debate sparked on campus.

S.J. Buddies At Break

Break — the time to cram in as much studying for the test next block as possible. Or maybe by a candy bar — the sugar ought to keep you going at least until lunch. Listening to music, chatting with your friends, break is the time to relax. Or maybe it's the time to finish homework — your lucky Algebra isn't until block four. Maybe if you have time during break you can call your boyfriend — he's at home trying to finish typing your English term paper for English block six!!

1. But you don't understand, I can't let you copy my english paper, cheating is against my beliefs.
2. Hiding away from your studies won't accomplish anything — Why don't you study like your friends.
3. Mrs. Machin helps some seniors launch their rockets on Science day.
4. Aw don't take the picture I didn't have time to apply my make-up this morning!!
5. In awe of their creation seniors Chris Callendar, Denise Bendek, and Michele Bautista watch closely as their rocket takes flight.
6. Sisters aren't doing it for themselves at least, when it comes to Sandy Mescavage helping younger sister Susan in Computer Literacy.

Weekend Fun

What am I going to do to-night? This question is often answered by going to a dance. Many students find the dances a great way to socialize and have fun. The dances are sponsored by various classes and organizations who put a lot of time into making these dances a success. Theme dances are very popular; Valentines, Halloween, Christmas and Spring Fling are just a few of the fantastic dances we've had. Dances are a great place to catch up with what is going on with your friends and listen to the terrific music.

“Bingo! I Won!”

Every Wednesday we open our MPB doors to host the so many family members, friends and guests to join us in some profitable games of Bingo. Pots vary from week to week but the efforts of those who help to make it a success are always consistent. We owe many thanks to all involved.

Preset school year to a sizzling 1985-1986. In large bowl, combine Michele Bautista, Denise Bendeck, Grace Chen, and Joann Nesvold until smooth. Carefully stir in Cris Borja, Olga Fojo, Rebeca Leon, Chrissy Quesada, Shar San Miguel, and Jennifer Yee until consistency is cooperative. Add several cups of diligence, a pound of efficiency, and a ton of dedication. Blend at low speed for one minute. Sift in a scoop of good humor, a pinch of silliness, a gallon of fun, and a bushel of laughter. Beat for 2 minutes. Pour into greased pan, and bake from June-September, 1985.

When done, let cool. Sprinkle generously with smiles and dozens of half-eaten lunches. Garnish with a sensational Sr. Mary Pât moderator.

Makes: 1 Jammin' Senior Board!
Serves: 1 Senior Class

President Michele Bautista

Vice President Denise Bendeck

Secretary Grace Chen

Treasurer Joann Nesvold

The Senior Section Representatives are: Cris Borja, Sharlyn San Miguel, Jennifer Yee, Chrissy Quesada, Rebeca Leon, and Olga Fojo. Sister Mary Patricia Sullivan is the class moderator.

Our Class Color Love Affair

We hated you. At first. We couldn't find you in our closets. We cursed you for being ugly. In fact, you reminded us of droopy spinach, fuzzy mold, and wart-ridden frogs.

But, we were stuck with you. Maybe we didn't like you because you impressed in our minds the reality of our greenness, our inexperience. Like it or not, we were as green as weak, defenseless sprouts in a garden of more worldly sophomores, juniors, and seniors. With your help, we set out to change our image.

You pulled us together. You came to signify our spirit. As the years passed, we spotted you at the rallies in bouncing balloons, class shirts, flowing ribbons, zany coats, frosty eye shadow, jaunty handkerchiefs, sexy garters, and gaudy bangles, bracelets, necklaces, and earrings.

We realized that we had not fully appreciated you. You were the best kind of M & M. You brought us the luck of the Irish. You enabled us to reveal our crazy, unique personalities. We became a class of distinction. The class of 1986.

And, somehow along the way, we ended up loving you. Your leprechaun magic sprinkled us with an emerald dust that transformed our lives. We may leave St. Joseph's after four short years, but our blood will run green forever.

Ode To A Toad

Our frog is like a green, green prince
Who treats us royally;
Our frog is like a puppy dog
Who loves us loyally.
O Kermit fair, our handsome toad,
So spirited, thou art.
And diamond tears will wash our eyes
When time it comes to part.

When time it comes to part, our toad,
When high school days are done,
We'll miss thee so, O mascot green,
As long as there's a sun.
We thank you much, O dearest frog,
For your laughter, zeal, and smiles.
Our bond with you forever we
Will stretch across the miles.

Days Like This

Mom never told me there'd be days like this. Last year, she went on and on and on about how her little girl would blossom into a ravishing Senior Beauty and how my senior year was going to be the best year of my life.

She lied.

Obviously, SHE didn't wake up late only to find that her nail polish had spilled onto her alarm clock and frozen its hands at 1:07 a.m. And, of course, SHE didn't bomb her English CRIME AND PUNISHMENT test, nor did SHE have a mutant dog with a genuine affinity for English essays. Mom most likely never suffered from near-coronaries and indigestion after eating a Big Mac Value Pack during a 35-minute off-campus. Oh, and, SHE probably never came home to find a Hallmark sympathy card from the College Board saying that they didn't want to embarrass her by informing her of her SAT scores.

Yes, Mom must have had The Perfect Senior Year complete with plenty of hunks, kick-back classes, and superiority complexes. And what am I stuck with? Days like this.

But . . . I never said Mom wasn't understanding.

She's letting me ditch tomorrow.

After a long week, Susan Larker demonstrates everyone's urge to climb the walls.

Blue Plaid Skirt Dies 1974-1986

The Blue Plaid Skirt, former uniform of St. Joseph High School, passed away in June, 1986. Apparently, it suffered from a shocking overdose of out-of-uniforms. It was 12 years old.

Born in 1974, the Blue Plaid Skirt was characterized by crisp pleats of blue, brown, grey, and white. Its resiliency made it a favorite among students who often stapled its hem and substituted it for a paper towel when the bathroom hand dryers took too long.

The Blue Plaid Skirt is survived by the new uniform's grey herringbone skirt.

Funeral services and burial will be conducted according to each senior's wishes.

The Class of 1986 has suggested that donations be given to The Crusade for the Revival of the Blue Plaid Skirt. For additional information, friends may contact the organization at (213) '86-SKIRT.

1. Imitating Bill Cosby, Terri Pamplona offers Holly Sine a Classic Coke and a smile.
2. On Halloween, MaryAnn Delas Peñas, Maria De Aguiar, and Michele Bautista participate in the Seniors' trenchcoat madness.
3. With picture-perfect smiles, fashionable seniors pose on a sunny day.

Dial 1-800-4-Relief

Hi. My name is Jane. Jane Doe. Like 165 of you, I'm a senior. And like 165 of you, I'm suffering from a disease worse than alcoholism. It's called senioritis.

The symptoms first appeared in my junior year: lethargy, indifference, and increased addiction to the television. Like a stubborn fool, I refused to take time to pamper myself and instead, I continued to study for tests and to hand in my homework on time.

When senior year rolled around, concentrating on my studies became increasingly difficult. The act of lifting my pen became so strenuous that I gave up on homework altogether. That was when I decided to seek help.

I attended rally after rally and game after game in an attempt to revitalize my life. But nothing worked. Even professional counseling failed.

In desperation, I let my fingers do the walking through the Yellow Pages and discovered S. A., Senioritis Anonymous. I quickly dialed the toll-free number 1-800-4-RELIEF. To my surprise, I was not alone. The number of senioritis victims in America has escalated to epidemic proportions.

Now, the doctors tell me that my only hope for survival is graduation. Until then, the road to recovery will be steep, but I have hope. I will survive!

Class Of 86

JUN- IORS

Junior Board Leads With Spirit

Junior board found their first year as upperclassmen to be a very demanding one. The first couple months in office were dedicated to the planning of their ring ceremony. They were determined to make it a special and memorable event for all who participated. They succeeded, and could definitely be proud of their accomplishment. All the hours of hard work paid off when the juniors received their rings at the end of October. An event that will linger in the hearts and minds of many for years to come. October twenty-fifth was a turning point in the lives of the junior class.

The ceremony helped keep the class of '87 unified and spirited. It was a time to strengthen old friendships and even begin new ones.

The ring is a symbol of love, hope and zeal which they all share. Another means by which the class of '87 will be joined as one forever.

No More Brown Bagging It!

Off-campus lunches served as a time to free oneself of scholastic surroundings and relax and enjoy lunch out with friends. As each of these long awaited days approached, juniors were often found fantasizing of all the scrumptious alternatives of the dreaded brown paper bag lunch.

The greatly anticipated privilege was finally here but posed a familiar question among many juniors each month. Where do we eat?! Our juniors were new at these upperclassmen privileges and these lunches required a lot of thought!

Decisions were finally made and many juniors were found at Taco Bell, South Street Deli, and if time allowed a quick stop at Penguin's Place for frozen yogurt.

The once-a-month privilege was the perfect time for planning the upcoming weekend and spending time with special friends.

Preparing For The Future

Just when juniors are getting accustomed to living up to the title of "upperclassmen", reality sets in. SAT classes take up spare time, since college life is just around the corner.

Favorites of our junior class seem to include the ever-popular UC campuses, including UCLA with entertaining Westwood and the festive Mardi Gras bordering the campus, and UCSD with sunny beaches as an attraction. For the more dedicated of the class, Princeton and Yale are not far out of reach, and remain long term goals for many of our hard working juniors.

The unparalleled enthusiasm of this class should definitely lead many of them to prestigious college campuses. Determination is the key word, and the juniors have plenty!

Juniors Are Steppin' Up!

Obtaining the title of "upperclassmen" takes a distinct sense of maturity, and living up to the title demands many responsibilities. The juniors faced their year of transition with unity and anticipation.

The average junior is sure of herself, her surroundings and what her last semesters of high school hold for her. She has finally become a familiar face on campus, a goal that seemed so remote freshman year.

Junior year is to strengthen the bonds of friendship and unite together to prepare for all the demands of senior year.

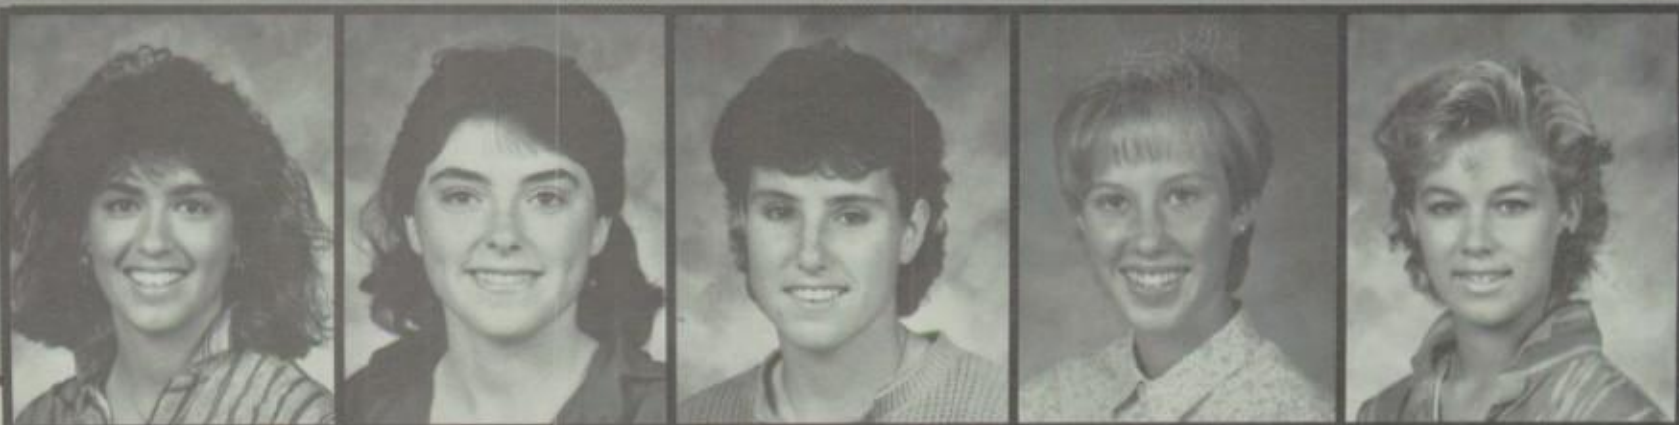

This year the junior class took great strides. They showed their true unity in retreats, off-campus lunches and their memorable ring ceremony. The overall progress of our juniors this year leads many to believe they will be a unique senior class.

Maria,
 Finally- this school year is over! Now you get to pick on the incoming freshmen bet to pick instead of them I'm glad you will Freshmen buddies, you're really years ahead
 You. It's 5000 much fun! I'm glad you will my Freshmen buddies, you're really years ahead
 I hope in the future years we can become better friends. Party party!
 Fantastic summer. Oh, well!
 Try and stay out of trouble.
 Maybe we could do something together.
 Something. Oh, well!

Sophomore Board Does It All!

The sophomore class is obviously a very enthusiastic one, and with a dedicated board behind them, they had a great year.

They started the year off united at the first rally in their candy-apple red class shirts. Their enthusiasm soared as they finally had a means of joining as one in class spirit.

Next came unity night. Kim Arboit, a sophomore section representative, said, "We have a great class to work with and they supported us in all our planning."

Entitled "A Mexican Fiesta: A Celebration of Friends", it was a night of sharing smiles, hugs and strengthening special friendships of the class of '88. As class vice-president Ileana Leon said, "Our board and entire class is very enthusiastic and that helped to make our unity night an enjoyable and memorable event."

The sophomore class this year was lucky enough to be led by a dedicated board who were determined to have a successful year. They succeeded in keeping their class spirit very much alive, and we can expect many good things from them in their upperclassmen years.

Sophomores Keep School Spirit Alive!

Last year an enthusiastic freshman class invaded our school grounds, letting their pride in their new school shine through. The fresh outlook of our inexperienced classmates added a whole new dimension to our campus.

Returning as sophomores, it seems as though they plan to keep that ever-present spirit alive. At the first pep rally, they continued to provide stiff competition for the rest of the student body, and not unlike last year, won the spirit stick.

The class of '88 has definitely given a new meaning to the word "zeal", and have shed a refreshing new light on our campus.

In all forms of school involvement, this class can always be found near the top!

Sophomores Keep In Step!

The year of transition finally came about for the class of '88. They gladly shed the title of "freshmen", but have yet to learn the qualities of an upperclassman.

This year brought about a rage of mixed emotions. Sophomores were caught between two significant stages of high school life.

Freshman year, a time of uncertain beginnings, was over and they were able to relax and settle into the Saint Joseph way of life.

Sophomores were faced with new experiences and adjustments, but with their unique spirit and unity, this class shows the potential of being enthusiastic upperclassmen in the upcoming year.

Day No. 162

Dear Diary,

I'm working so hard in student council: There are meetings every week, but our board is really dedicated. We've had our unity night which gave us a chance to get to know one another. Then there are our dances which took a lot of time. Every person on our board has so much enthusiasm and creativity, that we don't have enough activities to use it up. I think for our first year on student council, we've proven ourselves to be outstanding leaders.

Section reps: Jennifer Bowermaster, Heather Choppin, Nikki Devereux, Diana Rojo, Andrea Spina and Merideth Voss and their moderators, Mrs. Boss and Mrs. Yeager.

Dear Diary Day No. 35

Dear Diary,

Looking back at the year, I can see that this was a special time in my life. It all began with Initiation Week. We felt silly dressing up as trees but the pepperoni pizza my senior sister brought me, made it all worth it. Then there was the Welcome Rally. All the classes dressed in class colors. Seniors were in "ribbity" green, juniors in bright blue, sophomores in candy apple red and us in blazing yellow. Student Council then performed a skit based on Back to the Future to keep everyone in uniform. Cheer and Song did some awesome stunts. Then came my favorite part, class competition. Even though we didn't know what we were doing and we looked geeky, I felt like I had known everyone forever. Trying for Student Council, Cheerleading and joining clubs, gave me the experience of meeting new people, the sense of responsibility, and some pain along the way. Singing the alma mater summed up the pride I felt in being a St. Josephs student. This first year in high school, gave me memories I'll never forget.

1. Barbara Loya and Alicia Lynch realize that last minute studying can be grueling.
2. Stacey Pauly, Christine Serrano and Liza Santos find out how difficult their Spanish I test is.

Dear Diary Day No. 77

Dear Diary,

I can't begin to tell you how excited I am! Tomorrow night is my very first high school dance, but I have one huge problem . . . what should I wear? It's between my red stirrup pants and my oversized paisley shirt or my preppy pleated pants with my shirt buttoned to my neck and rhinestone brooch? I am absolutely dying to know if I have my mom and dad drop me off at the front gate at 6:00, if that will be early enough? I talked to Christy and Cathy and they said that EVERYONE will be there. Just imagine . . . all of those massive Bosco hunks in one place. I hope I meet a guy with blond hair, blue eyes, wearing a lettermans jacket or dressed GQ and driving a candy apple red Porche. Oh no! It's already 3:00 so I better start getting ready. This has to be what high school is about!!!

1. Freshmen find out that break can be a good time to share an interesting experience.
2. Laughing and lunch always seem to go hand in hand.

Dear Jowanna,
I can't thank ya enough for everything you've done for me. We've been through it all from our hysterical tears to our hysterical laughter, our frustrating disappointments to our hard-earned achievements, and especially our many heart breaks to our many heart-throbs! Remember I'll always be here for ya!

I Love You!

P. S. Hawaii! Are you ready for us?

Dear Liz,
We have shared so many memories together. You are a very big part of my life. Together we have made it through all our accomplishments and major disasters. Thank you for always being there for me whenever I need someone to talk or to keep me in line. You are a very special friend to me, and you have made these the best years of my life!

I Love You,

Joann

(Jowona)

P. S. Someday we'll accomplish those "goals"!!!!
(Summer '86, maybe?)

Excellence. Compassion. Sensitivity toward the total person — body, mind and spirit. Respect for the dignity of each man, woman and child. Appreciation of the human personality.

At St. Mary Medical Center, these are not simply words, they have substance — and meaning. Since 1923 the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word have provided health care to the local community that includes not only sophisticated medical technology, but a compassionate and understanding human touch.

Much of the success of St. Mary Medical Center is due to the many St. Joseph graduates who have contributed by choosing a rewarding health career.

If you would like to discover more about working or volunteering in a caring place, please stop by to see us. You'll find a wide variety of opportunities available at St. Mary's.

Best of luck in all your future endeavors.

REDUCE YOUR STUDENT BODIES.

Whether you have a small, medium or large student body, take it to Penguin's Place™ for a small, medium or large frozen yogurt.

Penguin's is less than 1/2 the calories of ice cream, with the same great taste and rich delicious flavors. From Dutch Chocolate to Banana. And you can top it off with anything. From berries to Butterfinger bars.

So treat your student body to Penguin's soon. No matter what size it is.

Dancing To The Keys Of Life

As the mesmerizing sounds capture the dancers heart she begins her transformation from a timid person into a full blossomed adult. So much energy and patience is put into expression that at times the dancer becomes lost in her music. Whether it be music from the orchestra or music from her soul; it is to her Heaven's song and a story vital to be told.

Hours of dedication are demanded for a schedule so cramped with complications, the dancer barely has time to come in touch with necessity and importance. Life becomes a dance of frantic and irregular beats. The rhythm society has composed is often unwelcomed. Many times in light of the sensational tone of life, the downbeat of death and tragedy out play the astounding surge of triumph. Yet, the dance continues.

Music is escape!!!

To dance is the expression of what lies within the heart while one plays the music of their own unique symphony; they dance away their days upon the keys of life.

— mine —

well the year is almost over and only three more years of this quasi-chaos. At least we won't be called Freshmen anymore!

We've been through a lot together, all the way back to Pico. We've been a great friend to me and it wouldn't be the same without you.

Don't forget me over the summer and I hope you have a great time in Spain. Don't stay too long cuz I'm gonna miss you!

I'll call you every chance I get so you better have a great "Kenny" story to tell. I am really glad you found a great guy like him. Keep him cuz I know you love him and keep in touch!

Hola Chica! So the year is almost over. No more being called the dreadful name "freshmen!" I never thought that you would become a close friend of mine. Yeh, we've been through a lot together. You're a very special friend. You're a little weird and wild but that's okay, because you have a rad boyfriend. Well I hope you have a great summer.
You better come back from Spain, because you will have a lot of people waiting for your return. Well, have a great, I wish you the best on your vacation. God Bless!

K.I.T. from Spain,

Love always
